Arkansas Auto Dealers Differ On 10% Interest Ceiling

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

"I'm satisfied the way it is," Big Sid Haydon, who sells Chryslers, Imperials, Plymouths and Vallants at the corner of 8th and Spring in Little Rock, sat in his comfortable back room office.

"This 10% limit eliminates a lot of these wild wheelers-and-dealers who fleece the public, these guys who will write up a deal for any price they can get."

"My opinion may not be a majority viewpoint among car dealers in Little Rock, but this interest rate is like I want it now."

Car dealers finance with national companies in Arkansas, Haydon noted, "and banks are going after our business more. There's a lot of competition."

Haydon writes largely with Universal C I T Credit Corp.

General Motors Acceptance Corp., services GM dealers.

Normal Rate 8-10%

The normal interest charge is 8% on new cars, 10% for used cars, Haydon said. He handles both.

"Banks frown on used cars though unless the finance paper is endorsed by the dealer," he noted.

"We can finance the average run of customer. These companies will take it someday, even if we have to endorse it."

"But, if I endorse, I want to be sure the risk is good. I won't okay some of them that the finance company would okay."

The result is that sometimes Haydon must request a larger down payment.

"We must make our profit out of the car, rather than the financing," he pointed out. "This requirement knocked out some used car dealers who had been making all their profit out of dealer reserves."

"But the solid dealers are still here."

How is business, Mr. Haydon?

"Never better. This is my best year."

Walter Bennett conferred briefly with a salesman, then sat down.

"Well, Arkansas is a tough state to operate in," he began. "This 10% limit doesn't exactly create a very healthy position for an auto dealer."

Bennett is executive vice president and general manager of Rebsamen Motors, Little Rock's big Ford dealer.

"We don't really have a problem here," he explained, "because we function through our own separate finance company," Manhattan Credit Co., Inc.

"We use $5.41 a hundred, the same rate for both new and used cars."

'Need Graduated Scale'

"There is really no problem in financing new cars at 10%, but you need a graduated upward scale on used cars. No matter how careful you are, you know, there will always be some repossessions — and you always lose money on them."

Arkansas car dealers "can't get a decent reserve" on financing arrangements, Bennett declared.

"It's no reserve to speak of at all. We must make it off the cash price."

For the customer, this may sometimes require a larger down payment, he explained.

Bennett declined to name a rate which he would consider fair and adequate for used car financing.

How's business?

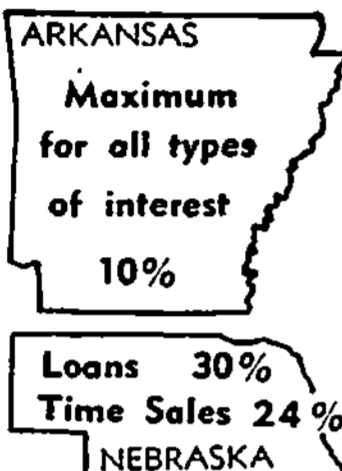

"Unusually good. Very good."

SIXTH IN SERIES

Arkansas permits a maximum rate of 10% simple interest per year on contracts negotiated within its borders.

By comparison, Nebraska law allows a maximum interest charge of 36% on cash loans — it will be 30% as of Oct. 19 — and charges equivalent to 24% simple interest on time-sales agreements, or purchase of merchandise on credit.

In order to determine the effect of the 10% limit on Arkansas and its economy, on the public, banks, merchants, automobile dealers and small loan companies, The Star interviewed 31 persons during four days in Little Rock.

—LAST HOLDOUTS QUIT—

Honduran Army Chief In Control

Tegucigalpa, Honduras (AP) — The army's commander assumed supreme power in Honduras Friday, reporting the last holdout civil guard forces of ousted President Ramon Villeda Morales had surrendered.

Col. Osvaldo Lopez Arellano, a career officer, announced in a proclamation he will act as provisional president without the junta that usually goes along with Latin American military coups.

The proclamation, issued 24 hours after Villeda Morales was overthrown in sharp fighting in Tegucigalpa, declared the nation was calm. Stores reopened, but soldiers still guarded government buildings.

An army communique under Lopez Arellano's signature asserted that the civil guard, a 2,500-man force created by Villeda Morales, had downed arms everywhere in the country.

It was the civil guard, organized in 1959 after a previous uprising, that fought army troops in downtown Tegucigalpa Thursday morning. The army communique said 21 were killed in the fighting and unofficial reports listed the number wounded at 50.

The communique listed six army soldiers killed and 15 civilians. The latter presumably were members of the semimilitary civil guard.

... No Request For Top Priority

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A delegation from the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Television Committee (METV) Friday officially requested the Nebraska ETV Commission to activate Omaha's Channel 16 "at the earliest possible date."

The Omaha request made no specific bid for top priority in the schedule of channel activation along the seven-station ETV network.

Commission Chairman Steven Watkins, superintendent of Lincoln schools, assured the Omaha delegation that the commission has "expressed its desire to activate as soon as possible each and every part" of the network.

Omaha's request "seems to be quite in line," Dr. Watkins pointed out.

"We are seeking the earliest possible date for all the facilities. Our problem is to determine what funds will go to what place at what time."

Channel 12 Move First?

The original plan for activation of the network envisioned first priority to boosting Lincoln's Channel 12 to full power, including moving its tower to Mead.

But some Omaha interests have indicated that they might like to gain first priority for activation of Channel 16.

As an ultra high frequency (UHF) outlet, Channel 16 would not be available over most present television receivers.

Woman, Son Escape; Car Hit By Train

Mrs. Charlene Cotton, 20, 1803 R, pulled her 22-month-old son from her car just before a 152-car Rock Island Freight train demolished her car Friday afternoon at 19th and R.

Mrs. Cotton told police her car stalled on the tracks at 19th and R. After a futile attempt to start the car, she grabbed her son and ran for safety.

The investigating officer said the freight was traveling at 18 miles an hour when it hit the car.

2 Killed In 'Lost Control' Car Crashes

Wallace Brown, 50, was killed Friday night when he lost control of his auto seven miles north and four miles east of Bertrand, on a county road.

Brown lived at Johnson Lake north of Elwood.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said the right front tire on Brown's car was flat.

Earlier Friday night Albert De Jung, 68, of Edgar, was killed when his car went out of control on a gravel road 10 miles southeast of Clay Center.

The highway patrol listed a third fatality Friday. He was identified as Rolf F. Kibby, 19, of Naper. The patrol said he was injured in an accident Sept. 28 when the farm tractor he was using to pull two hay sleds overturned on a county road seven miles southwest of Naper.

Omaha Officially Asks 'Earliest Possible' ETV

Channel 12 is a very high frequency (VHF) outlet, and at full power its signal would be available in both the Lincoln and Omaha areas.

Ask Local Groups

Omaha's request, presented by Superintendent of Schools Paul A. Miller, also asked that "the local autonomy of each channel area be preserved by the establishment of an advisory committee to assist" the commission.

Dr. Miller reviewed Omaha's past interest in ETV "to allay any feelings that Omaha has a detached interest or a selfish interest" in seeking speedy activation of Channel 16.

"What is beneficial to the state will be beneficial to Omaha, and vice versa," he declared.

Other members of the delegation included representatives of Omaha University, Creighton University, School District 68 and commercial broadcasters.

Decisions Needed

In other developments, Acting Network General Manager Jack McBride noted that "additional development of the network is tabled until the commission makes basic decisions," chiefly priority of activation.

If Nebraska delays too long its application for federal construction funds, "appropriations might be used up," McBride warned, delaying network development a year.

Will Willie Out-twist The Cyclones?

38,000 To See NU Open Quest For Big 8 Crown

By IAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska, with an anticipated sellout crowd of 38,000 watching, will open its pursuit of the Big Eight football title Saturday afternoon with Iowa State invading NU's Memorial Stadium.

The Huskers will be gunning for their third straight victory at the 2 p.m. kickoff and two Scarlet and Cream individuals can reach personal goals against the Cyclones.

Willie Ross, who has been stopped just short of the goal line on three occasions in the first two Husker games, will be striving for his first TD of the 1963 season and quarterback Dennis Claridge is within reach of two NU passing records.

The senior triple-threat quarterback needs only 11 completions and 77 yards in passing gains to knock out career records set by John Bordogna during the 1951-53 span.

Record In 1951

Bordogna set the records at 113 completions and 1,564 yards with a 1951 performance against Iowa State giving him the biggest boost toward these totals. The former Husker, who is now an interior decorator in Lincoln, also holds NU records for pass completions (14) and passing yardage (234) in one game. Both these records were set against Iowa State in 1951.

Claridge has 102 completions for 1,488 yards and is the Husker senior from Robinsondale, Minn., doesn't make it against Iowa State, he still has seven games remaining.

If Claridge is to rewrite these Husker records, the Scarlet and Cream gridders will have to take to the air more than in their first two games — victorious efforts against South Dakota State and Minnesota.

May Take To Air More

The Huskers passed on only eight times in each of the first two contests and NU fans will be looking for more aerial fireworks against the Cyclones in this Big Eight opener.

Nebraska must win Saturday to make a successful prophet of Iowa State coach Clay Stapleton, who told the Big Eight Skywriters Tour that the Huskers would defeat Oklahoma for the conference title.

Stapleton, noted for his frankness, said Nebraska would beat Oklahoma for the title Nov. 23 at Lincoln because the "Huskers have more incentive."

'Nebraska Has It'

Stapleton still has not changed his mind about the Huskers after two games. "Depth, size, speed, experience, fine coaching — you name it and Nebraska has it," Stapleton says.

The Cyclones, who have a 1-1 record with a 15-18 loss to Iowa State and a 21-6 win over VMI, have one of the best backfields in the Big Eight.

The Iowa State attack is led by fullback Tom Vaughn, but the Cyclones are expected to take to the air today in an effort to avoid the huge Nebraska line that averages 222 pounds.

It Holds Man's Best, Last Hope

... RECALLS ONE FAILURE

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia mounted the rostrum in the U.N. General Assembly Friday and recalled how 27 years ago he appealed in vain to the League of Nations for help against aggression.

Then, looking to the future, the frail-looking 71-year-old bearded monarch told delegates from 111 nations that "here, in this assembly, reposes the best — perhaps the last — hope for the survival of mankind."

It was a moment in history and both the delegates in the hall and the spectators who filled the galleries "to listen to the man in the dark, double-breasted suit were aware of it. They gave him a standing ovation before and after his address."

Relief

Speaking in Amharic, the emperor said that he sought in Geneva in 1936 to appeal "for relief from the destruction which had been unleashed against my defenseless nation."

"I spoke then to and for the conscience of the world," he added. "My words went unheeded, but history testifies to the accuracy of the warning that I gave in 1936."

He came to the United Nations from a ticker tape parade in Manhattan in which he chose to walk instead of ride the last five blocks.

Appreciation

He said he wanted by that gesture to show appreciation of Ethiopia for all that New York has done for his nation.

New Yorkers stood 5 to 10 deep along the line of march which ended at City Hall Plaza where he was welcomed by Mayor Wagner.

At the United Nations he had lunch with Secretary-General U Thant and diplomats attending the General Assembly. The guest list of 60 included U.S. Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

But it was in the assembly hall where the main drama occurred in his appearance before the organization which succeeded the League of Nations.

Somber

In somber tones he noted that the charter of the United Nations expresses the noblest aspirations of mankind—but so did the covenant of the League.

These, he said, "are only words—their value depends wholly on our will to observe and honor them and give them content and meaning."

He praised the United Nations for daring to act when the league dared not. He referred specifically to actions in Asia, in Suez and the Congo.

Not Enough

Still, he said, that is not enough. He saw U.N. judgments as subject to whims of some member states who have "ignored its pronouncements and disregarded its recommendations."

In his view, he said, this does not mean the United Nations has failed.

He made plain also that he spoke as a leader of the new nations of Africa, whose recent summit meeting was held in Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital.

He said that conference had shown to the world that until the policy of white supremacy is abandoned and until "the color of a man's skin is of no more significance than the color of his eyes" lasting peace will remain only a fleeting illusion.

Hurricane Heads For So. Florida

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora swirled out to sea Friday night and headed toward the Bahamas and southeastern Florida after pummeling Haiti and eastern Cuba.

The vicious storm already has killed at least 47 persons in two Caribbean island strikes and caused millions of dollars in damage.

Skippy communications left unreported much of the loss in Haiti and Cuba.

Gain Intensity

The U.S. Weather Bureau said in an advisory that Flora gave indications it would continue its northwest course and gain new intensity over water Saturday.

Flora's peak winds were estimated at 115 miles per hour — a swift 30 m.p.h. rise over top velocity after it battered eastern Cuba. The storm reached a fury of 140 m.p.h. in wrecking thousands of flimsy homes and killing 25 persons in western Haiti earlier Friday. Its death toll was 17 Tuesday at Tobago, off Venezuela's coast.

Forecasters advised swift completion of precautions from north central Cuba to Andros Island, midway of the Bahamas, and said small craft should remain in port Saturday from southeastern Florida through the Bahamas and the northern Caribbean.

Precautions

Some precautions already were under way in Miami.

Dade County (greater Miami) Manager Irving McNayr told department heads to be reachable over weekend in case the storm should strike.

Forecasters in the U. S. Weather Bureau at Miami said there was 50% or less chance that Flora would head their way.

About 375,000 GI's To Lose Special Pay

Washington (AP) — About 375,000 GI's lost their eligibility for special overseas pay Friday because their living conditions are considered just about like those of military men in most of the continental United States.

But the order by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara left some 225,000 other enlisted men eligible for the extra pay for such hardships as undesirable climate, isolation and lack of normal community facilities.

The eligible list embraces more than 100 countries and islands — including parts of Japan, France, Italy, Germany and Great Britain. Men stationed in some areas of western Europe and Japan, however, will lose the bonus.

Not Hawaii

While military personnel stationed in Hawaii will lose the overseas pay, those in Alaska will continue to get it.

Officers stationed overseas are not affected because they have not been receiving the hardship bonus.

McNamara acted under authority granted him by the new pay raise legislation which goes into effect this month giving salary boosts to all military personnel with more than two years service. Under the old law, the Pentagon announcement said, "no distinction was possible" between locations.

Possible

"It is now possible to recognize the differences in rigors of service which prevail at different locations," the announcement said.

The special duty pay ranges from $8 a month for the lowest rank of enlisted man to $22.50 a month for senior non-commissioned officers. The loss of this will mean some men eligible for pay raises will lose virtually all or a large portion of the boost.

The Pentagon said sea duty pay is not affected.

Eligible

McNamara included among the areas eligible to continue receiving the special pay: —Places such as Viet Nam and others in hardship areas to which movement of families is not permitted. —Where the standard duty tour accompanied by dependents is 30 months or less. The usual tour is longer, mostly 36 months. —Places where the duty tour is more than 30 months and where civilian federal employees get a bonus because of extraordinary living conditions, unhealthful conditions and excessive physical hardship.

Isolated

Places in Europe which remain eligible are primarily isolated posts such as radar stations or units on the line facing the Iron Curtain—remote from post exchanges and similar conveniences.

A Pentagon spokesman said cutting down of the eligible list of extra pay posts will save about $38 million a year. However this will be largely offset by new bonuses set up by the new pay bill. These include: (1) about $40 million in separation allowances for men who cannot take their families with them on long tours of duty, (2) about $2 million for men who face hostile fire in Viet Nam, and (3) about $1.2 million under a 10% increase in cost-of-living allowances.

Revolt By Berbers Gathering Support

Algiers (AP) — A revolt by Berbers of the Kabylie Mountains against President Ahmed Ben Bella's government appeared to be spreading Friday across predominantly Arab territory.

A n i l - government guerrilla units were reported forming south and southwest of Algiers, threatening security of the highways.

Army sources and European travelers said guerrillas have set up road controls near Cherchell, 50 miles southwest of Algiers. They told of growing unrest in the mountain areas near Medea, Teniet-el-Haad and Orleansville.

2,000 Men

According to some advices, 2,000 armed guerrillas have assembled near Teniet-el-Haad, about 150 miles southwest of the capital.

Anti-government sentiments have been evident before in the area. The Berber dissidence in the Kabylie Mountains, east of Algiers, evidently helped to spark unrest there.

The nerve center of the growing anti-government activity southwest of the capital was reported near Duperre and Tizi-Franco, south of the Cherchell Mountains. Duperre is 62 miles from Algiers.

Some reports spoke of minor clashes.

No Progress

Meanwhile, reports from Kabylie spoke of no progress in Ben Bella's peace overtures to the rebels.

The rebel military leader, Col. Mohamed Ou El Hadj, told newsmen in Michelet Thursday night: "Our stand is unchanged—Ben Bella must be overthrown."

Some Berber parliament deputies contacted the dissident headquarters in an effort to seek a basis for peace talks.

They were reported turned down by the colonel and by dissident deputy Hocine Ait Ahmed, the political chieftain of the revolt.

Negro Demonstrators May Aim At Mormons

Salt Lake City (AP) — The Mormon Church, which teaches that Negroes are cursed by God, was threatened Friday with a peaceful Negro demonstration at its historic headquarters.

Members of the Utah Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were to vote on whether to picket the church.

Negro leaders told officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints the picketing was likely unless they meet certain demands.

Asked Support

They asked the church to support President Kennedy's civil rights program, support civil rights legislation in Utah and endorse the principle of equality of opportunity for all Americans.

The picketing, if it takes place, would come Saturday during the church's 133rd semi-annual conference, which has attracted thousands of Mormons to Salt Lake City.

A spokesman said the Negroes tentatively planned to march at Temple Square in the heart of the city, site of the historic Mormon temple and tabernacle.

Mark Of Curse

The Mormon Church teaches that the Negro was cursed by God as a descendant of Cain and that the mark of this curse is his dark skin.

Negroes are admitted to membership in the church, but are barred from the priesthood, into which members of other races are freely admitted.

Officials say any change in church attitude toward the Negro must come as a revelation of God to President McKay, who is regarded by the faithful as a prophet and revelator.

MRS. WEINSTEIN . . . held in murder.

Attractive Brunette Charged In Slaying

Chicago (AP) — An attractive brunette, Mrs. Irwina Weinstein, 28, was charged Friday with murdering her business-man husband.

A former employee of the victim, charged earlier in the slaying, told investigators she planned the killing so she could "be free."

Weinstein's charred body was found last Sunday in his burned-out station wagon on a rubbish dump beside the Calumet Expressway at 137th Street south of Chicago. Examination showed his skull had been damaged by a blow.

The black-clad widow was taken to the police lockup after she surrendered for a second session of questioning at the office of State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward.

Authorities had sought Mrs. Weinstein, who had not been heard from since talking with police shortly after the body of her husband, Harvey Weinstein, 31, was found.

Richard Mattox, 30, has been charged with murder in connection with the slaying and is being held without bond.

Mattox said he was present when Weinstein, executive of a restaurant and bar supply firm, was slain. He also is reported to have said another man was present, but refused to identify him.

Authorities said Mattox was a former employee of the supply firm, in which Weinstein was associated with his father-in-law, Albert Slatin. They said he was convicted in Indiana and Colorado burglaries and once was treated in the Illinois State Penitentiary hospital for the criminally insane at Menard.

Installment Selling Of Dogs May Harm Ego Of Pooch

London (AP) — The National Canine Defense League asserted Friday that selling dogs on the installment plan is carrying the modern mercantile trend too far.

The league pointed out that while the installment buyer may become attached to a car, washing machine or television set, the reverse is not true — these things are incapable of returning the affection.

But a dog, said an article in the league's house organ, Dogs Bulletin, is a different proposition.

How Does Dog Feel?

How does a dog feel when torn from his part-owner's arms for non-payment of the October installment; rejected, that's how he feels, said Dogs Bulletin. And there is nothing unhappier than a dog who feels rejected.

Dogs Bulletin said the installment buying of swanky dogs such as Poodles as status symbols has become quite common in Britain.

"How much longer," thundered the journal, "do we have to tolerate spurious dealings in living creatures?"

What Will It Mean

"Hire purchase (installment buying) is a good thing when it comes to buying washing machines and vacuum cleaners. But what will it mean to dogs? The system probably will work for most people. But it takes no genius to visualize the outcome for many in the lower income group.

"People who buy an expensive pedigree poodle for the child may tire of paying the installments when they could have bought a washing machine instead.

Reclaimed

"They refuse to pay any more and the dog is reclaimed by the pet shop." The pet shop then sells the dog to somebody else, Dogs Bulletin said, and this could wreck the poor pooch's ego.

Little Real Progress Made In Probe For Accord Between East And West

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The East-West search for further accord headed into a new stage Friday with an outward show of movement but little real progress in solving basic cold war troubles.

The U.S., British and Soviet foreign ministers reached into outer space Thursday night for an "agreement" that could be announced in concluding their week of talks here on what disarmament steps might follow the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday the announced agreement in principle—to bar orbiting of atomic-armed satellites—will probably be translated into a U.S.-Soviet pledge late next week, perhaps when Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko sees President Kennedy Thursday.

Ready

Gromyko said in a separate interview that he will be ready to make the pledge for Russia when he goes to the White House. "I cannot speak for the American side, but I am ready to formalize it at any time," he said.

U.S. sources said the present idea is to have the United States and the Soviet Union, the two powers now able to whirl objects in orbit around the earth, issue separate but parallel statements declaring their policy against arming satellites with nuclear warheads.

Other nations could make similar pledges when they achieve the technical know-how for space shots.

Little Value

Kennedy, Gromyko and British Foreign Minister Lord Home have already declared in speeches to the U.N. General Assembly their opposition to orbiting nuclear weapons. U.S. sources say such weapons would have little military value, so the purpose would be mainly psychological.

Wanted More

When the ministers got to the publicized proposal for an East-West exchange of observers to guard against surprise attack, Communist sources said Gromyko did not want this inspection without some disarmament to be inspected. He proposed reducing forces in Germany, atom free zones, cutting defense budgets—items which the West could not accept on its terms.

The West wanted guarantees for Berlin included in the proposed non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic and Warsaw Military Alliance. Gromyko did not retreat from his Berlin stand.

Blaik, Royall Leave South

Birmingham, Ala. (AP) — Two presidential emissaries sent to investigate Birmingham's racial tensions completed their mission and left the city Friday.

The men, former Army Secretary Kenneth Royall and ex-West Point football coach Earl Blaik, said they expect to report to President Kennedy in a few days.

Blaik and Royall were sent by Kennedy after a dynamite blast killed four Negro girls at a church Sept. 15. They met with leaders of the white and Negro communities.

The men said it was possible they would return to Birmingham in a few days for more information.

Foreign Aid Plan Praised

... By Midwest Conference Speaker

One gauge of the worth of the United States' foreign aid program is the growing participation by other Western nations and large scale imitation by the Soviet Bloc, a top federal aid administrator said here Friday.

The speaker was Herbert J. Waters, assistant administrator for material resources of the Agency for International Development. He was addressing the Midwest Conference on Trade and Aid at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

The real payoff, however, he said, are the encouraging results of 15 years of United States effort: "Western Europe and Japan are free and prosperous. Venezuela, Mexico, Israel, Greece, and Free China are rapidly approaching a condition of self-sustaining growth. In a relatively short time, our programs will phase out in these countries. And, hopefully, others too, will reach their development goals without help."

With respect to the Western Nations, Waters cited the growth of the effort by others than the U.S. from $1.2 billion in 1956 to $2.5 billion this year.

"It is part of our world responsibility, thrust upon us by circumstances, to find ways by which developing countries can obtain the food they need, whether by local production or by exporting goods in order to import food."

This assertion was made by Lawrence Witt, professor of agricultural economics at Michigan State University, speaking on the topic, "Policies for International Economic Development," at the conference.

One alternative, shortages and resulting unrest, does not help build a stable world. Prof. Witt pointed out, while another alternative, continued dependence on food gifts, can be neither permanent nor satisfying.

"It is about as difficult to increase production in the underdeveloped countries as to reduce agricultural production in the developed nations," the economist continued.

"The ability to inaugurate and maintain an effective, coordinated program to upgrade agriculture is precisely that ability most likely to be lacking in a developing country," the speaker said.

"It is far easier to construct a manufacturing plant, install machinery, and train several hundred workers, than it is to build and integrate an Extension system, a credit program, and a series of stores and warehouses to encourage an increase in agricultural production."

Global Problems

The problems of agriculture are global in nature and must be considered along with the world's political, economic and social problems, in the opinion of Dr. A. S. Tuinman, Agricultural Attache, Royal Netherlands Embassy, Washington, D.C.

Dr. Tuinman spoke on the European Economic Community at the conference. The major problem of agriculture, he said, is not the growing production within the relatively thinly populated nations of the West, but the lagging production in the areas with the largest portion of the world's people.

"Agricultural production in the Western world has gone up 40% per capita since the last world war," he said, "but in Africa, the Far East, and South America where the greater part of the world population is living, production per capita declined."

Because of the global nature of the problem of agriculture, Dr. Tuinman is hopeful for the coming "Kennedy round" of tariff negotiations in Geneva, Switzerland.

Britain is still determined to eventually become a member of the European Economic Community, Michael Newton, regional information officer for British Information Services in Kansas City, told the conference.

This is a complete reversal of original intentions, he said, but its accomplishment so far has been blocked by France's Charles de Gaulle.

"We spend billions of dollars on public and private schools and pride ourselves on our literacy, but understanding of the principles of international trade is at about third grade level," a University of Illinois economist said.

Dr. Harold F. Breimyer, U.S. Agricultural Marketing Service staff economist on leave as a visiting lecturer at the Illinois institution, noted that "although the United States has been a global trader since its colonial days, few subjects have been more universally misunderstood."

Dr. Breimyer cited at least three possible reasons for the void of understanding by the lay public regarding international trade:

—International trade, unlike domestic, involves feelings of patriotism. This emotional aspect, desirable though it may be, interferes with education, he explained.

—Trade in any commodity has competitive impact on a relatively few producers, who respond vocally, but spreads its benefits over millions of consumers, who remain silent.

Unique Coffee Table Made Of Rock

Dick Siebenaler of Kimball displays a coffee table he fashioned for the Plains Rock and Mineral Clubs' sixth annual show at Kimball. Siebenaler arranged about 25 different kinds of rock—some of them rare—in molten plastic and let it harden to form the solid table top. Some of the species included are tiger eye from South Africa, crazy lace agate from Mexico, sodalite from Brazil and rhodochrosite from Argentina.

Sunday Ceremony Will Officially Consolidate 2 Fairfield Churches

Fairfield—Special services will be held here Sunday to complete the organization of the Presbyterian Church of Fairfield, culminating a two-year process of consolidating two churches here.

The merger was brought about through the efforts of a board of ruling elders composed of members of the local Christian and Methodist congregations and of the Rev. Henry Fawcett, pastor here.

Members of the board are Robert Hoins, Howard Hansen, Ed Schliep, Ralph Kissinger Jr., Gerald Humbert, Leonard Dana, Jack Hubbell and Don Bienhoff.

Two-hundred-twenty members of the old congregations affixed their signatures to the petition for consolidation.

Both buildings used by the two congregations will be retained and used by the merged group. The Christian Church building is to be used as the worship center and a fellowship hall for the use of all groups within the newly formed congregation.

Dr. Silas G. Kessler of Hastings, moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, will deliver the sermon at the 7:30 p.m. services Sunday. The Rev. Donn Jann, Lexington, moderator of the Presbytery of the Platte, will be the presiding minister.

As part of the final organization, Dr. George S. Bancroft of Omaha, executive secretary of the Synod of Nebraska, will give the charge to the congregation. Dr. John L. Shell, Grand Island, will give the charge to the minister, the Rev. Mr. Fawcett, and he will be installed officially as pastor of the new congregation.

Nevada, Iowa—Two Iowa State University students, one of them a Nebraskan, have been sentenced to six months in the Story County jail on burglary charges.

District Court Judge John M. Schupp ordered that the students, Brian Paul Guhering, 20, Whitesboro, N.Y., and John D. M. J. Shreefer, 25, Grand Island, Neb., be paroled after serving two months of their sentences.

The two were arrested Sept. 27 after an Ames, Iowa, resident reported to police that someone was prowling his automobile. Police said the youths signed statements admitting theft of about $2,000 worth of goods from buildings and automobiles.

The students told police they took the items, including two movie projectors from an Ames school building and television sets as a "lark."

Recipe For Learning

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Chancellor Dan E. McHenry of the University of California at Santa Cruz, which will open its doors in the fall of 1965, believes he has found the formula for success in college. He intends to apply his formula when the students pour onto his school's new campus. It all boils down to a double taboo — marriage and cars. At Santa Cruz neither marriage nor cars will be outlawed but the going will be tough for either.

There will be no married students' housing and there will be no parking for automobiles. One of the beneficial results of this, believes McHenry, will be less demand for students to work and, thus, more time to spend on studies. The chancellor painted a pretty grim picture of married life on campus. With no economic barriers, the students get married — and often they soon hate each other. They grow apart intellectually. The wife drops out to put her husband through. Then she gets pregnant and never goes back to class. They wind up in a divorce court.

Perhaps Chancellor McHenry is correct but his analysis is as much an indictment of our society as it is of our educational system. It is a little too easy an "out" to chalk all problems up to the fact that university-age young people just have not yet reached maturity. They have not reached the limits of their growth in many areas at that time but we would hope that they might never reach the limits of their growth.

Some people do not reach the limits of their growth even by the time they die of old age. They continue to grow in understanding, in compassion, in learning and in all aspects of living. The Santa Cruz approach may or may not be a good thing when all is said and done.

We have a feeling that the example of failure cited by the chancellor will only be delayed until another time. Does the chancellor believe that married life faces its greatest trials when the couple is young and that education is the greatest challenge that a married couple could face? He either does not believe this or he is single himself, as the trials of family life are many and the majority of them much more difficult than the securing of an education. But such difficulties as there are are overcome by those with tenacity, with a sense of values and with an understanding of what life is. If the student has none of this by the time he hits the university, he is likely to be in trouble for sure at some point along the way. When Chancellor McHenry noted that the economic barriers to marriage are no longer in existence, he put his finger on part of the real problem. This is the problem that stems from a society of plenty where it is difficult to put across any idea of personal responsibility. Things come so easily that there is a tendency to get the wrong idea, to reach adulthood with the idea that all the goodness of life is ripe and ready for picking. All one needs to do is walk into the orchard and take sufficient amounts to satisfy him, knowing, too, that he can return at his pleasure at another time.

This, too, is not necessarily the fault of the system. It is a fine thing that society has advanced to the state it has, where we have great amounts of leisure time, an abundance of time-and-working saving devices, good health, constantly improving housing and many other things. It is a fine thing, even, that we have the automobiles we do today that make us practically neighbors with anyone anywhere in the country.

But what is not so fine is our ability to live with this kind of abundance. For one thing, the kind of living that many Americans enjoy never was and never will be given away. It represents an achievement, not a heritage and the person who comes to expect it for nothing will just never have it.

Also, there is the matter of what we make out of our lives that counts, not just what we acquire or how high we manage to live on the hog. What the past generation has made possible for us, we should pass on with interest to the next generation. We cannot guarantee anything to anyone in the future but we can open the doors that they might walk through. Science and the arts can be moved further yet than they are today and the same thing will be true a hundred years from now.

The world is still loaded with poverty, there are problems of unemployment, there are people dying because of man's lack of knowledge, there is prejudice, there is waste and there is endless conflict in the world. When people learn the meaning of what they have and what is possible for them and expected of them, the details such as Chancellor McHenry has concerned himself with will be of not too much importance.

Continuing The Heritage

Learning To Coexist

The firecracker war going on between South Dakota and Nebraska over who gets to fish where in the tailwaters of Gavins Point dam is still in danger of producing a casualty or two.

But our struggle with Iowa over who owns what on which side of the restless Missouri river may be petering out. There never have been any casualties in that campaign for the reason that it is being fought with wet gunpowder and lacks not so much fervor and marksmanship as one thinker who can figure away out of the boundary problem.

A great step toward peace came recently when the two states decided to co-exist in the area of Missouri River recreation. They agreed to supply a permanent working committee to speed the development of the river's fun possibilities.

For an indefinite period the committee will ignore the capricious Missouri which currently has jumbled state lines in 26 places, including Carter Lake, Ia., which is now on the Omaha side.

The committee will press for recreational development regardless of which side of the river the investment may ultimately repose. This looks forward to the day when state boundary titles may be passed back and forth like stage money and not be allowed to interfere with the abundant life of sportsmen whether of Nebraska or Iowa. This is in the spirit of harmony which for some time now has permitted Iowa license bearing sportsmen to work both sides of the river with Nebraskans, in their turn, doing the same.

All this seems like the return of good sense and may prompt the boundary disputants to reflect that no final, rigid settlement can be had until the river joins in the agreement and stays permanently in one channel.

Another Latin Dictatorship

The fall of the established government of Honduras to military revolutionists is further cause for concern over a deteriorating situation in Central and South America. Quite clearly, this nation has not yet come up with an answer to the problems we face in dealing with our neighbors to the south. The Alliance For Progress has been slow in building up Central America because the recipients themselves have not upheld their share of the bargain. While money has been poured into social programs of one kind and another such as schools, roads and housing, the land remains in the hands of a few, agriculture is largely exploited and industry cannot get off the ground.

The failures of these governments have left them weak and subject to the kind of coup that ousted Honduras President Ramon Villeda Morales. The threat this poses is not so much communistic as it is dictatorship.

This nation can live no more easily with a right wing military dictatorship than it can with communism. The military takeovers represent no gain for the Reds but they represent no gains for democracy, either.

These are takeovers dedicated to the status quo, to the preservation of minority and special interest rule. Such military action topples the only means of democracy available before it has the strength of grass roots support through economic reform. The U.S. is being kicked around with the establishment of military dictatorships and seems to lack the tools for ending the abuse.

Editorial Of The Day

Conflict Of Interest Rule

From The Des Moines Register
A stern rule against a federal court judge serving as an employee, officer or director of a profit-making corporation has been adopted by the Judicial Conference of the United States.

The rule is a good one. More significant, however, than its intended purpose of keeping federal judges isolated from possible prejudicial influences is the fact that members of the conference felt that such a statement of policy is necessary. The conference consists of the chief judges of the federal circuit courts, one district judge from each circuit and the chief judges of specialized federal courts such as the court of claims. It is presided over by the chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Professional ethics, pride in personal integrity and loyalty to the judicial system have been thought sufficient to encourage the vast majority of state and federal judges to lean over backwards in preserving their objectivity on the bench. It has been their almost unvarying practice to disqualify themselves in cases where they may have had even the remotest personal interest or participation.

In the case of federal judges, their appointments are for life in the expectation that this security would remove them from all temptation to render any judgment not based strictly on law and justice.

In recent years, however, there has been a gradual tendency for some judges to retain or accept positions on the boards of directors of corporations. Presumably they were expected to disqualify themselves if the corporation should become a party to a legal action before the director-judge. Their membership on the boards of these corporations however did lend prestige to the company and provide a certain aura of reliability and trust that is highly desirable.

Several years ago the American Bar Association's committee on professional ethics adopted a resolution that it is improper for a judge to serve as a member of a bank's board of directors.

Three Reasons Why Crime Flourishes

WASHINGTON — How can organized murder be committed right under the nose of federal and city authorities for years and go undetected? How can a crime syndicate roll up millions of dollars without paying taxes? How can a crime syndicate exist at all in a country supposed to be the leader of the free world?

The questions are punctuated by the fact that the late Sen. Estes Kefauver held almost exactly the same kind of investigation twelve years ago, except that he was much more exhaustive. He relied not on one witness but on hundreds.

There are probably three general reasons why the underworld continues to flourish:

Reason No. 1 is jurisdiction. The federal government cannot step into cities and states to make arrests except in certain types of crimes such as income tax evasion, narcotics, violation of the Lindbergh Act for kidnapping, and violation of the Man Act.

This is why the infamous Al Capone, once lord of the Chicago gangland during the bootleg era, reigned unbothered by Chicago police until the federal government finally caught up with his income taxes. Today, in order to escape this risk, most gangsters overpay their taxes.

Reason No. 2 is the fact that little pay-offs at the bottom roll up into big crimes at the top.

Perhaps the most lucrative source of income for the overlords of the underworld is the numbers racket, slot machines, and other types of gambling. Revenue from this rolls up into hundreds of thousands of dollars a week when it gets to the top.

Most people see nothing wrong with a slot machine in a club or tavern. But when a cop will take $30 a week to protect slot machines, he will take $1,000 to fix a murder case. Once the pattern of a dishonest police force is set, there is no boundary line where it can be stopped.

Furthermore a whole series of murders has been committed in some cities to get the exclusive right to run the numbers racket or operate gambling.

Reason No. 3 is influence in high places. You can't expect the police to be vigilant or to refrain from taking pay-offs when they see the top men in the community getting immunity.

The police in New York, for instance, know that Lucky Luciano was let out of Sing Sing on a quiet evening during the war and hustled off on a boat to Italy, with one man seeing him off — Frankie Costello. This was right in the middle of Tom Dewey's crime clean-up. The story was that Luciano was going to help work inside Italy to prepare for the landing of U.S. troops but nobody ever knew the real reason.

Mme. Nhu Means To Conquer America

WASHINGTON — The United States has been trying to wage a war in South Viet Nam against the communist Viet Cong. Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu of that country's Ruling family arrives here Monday to wage a war against the United States.

Her apparent hope is that her beauty and glamour will persuade Americans to overlook the inadequacies, brutalities and repressions of the Ngo regime and her own insults to Americans fighting and dying in her country. This is a large order, especially as she is a compulsive talker, totally intolerant of criticism.

Madame Nhu's visit is unofficial, a small mercy for which this government is grateful. Her influence stems from that fact that her husband is head of the South Viet Nam secret police and that his brother is president. She does most of the talking.

The Diems are viewed here as less a government than as a family of despots temporarily upgraded by an accident of history. Few seriously believe that they could maintain themselves in office once the external threat was removed, if it ever can be while the Diems rule.

President Kennedy clings to the hope that the war can be won because of the military importance of the country. Yet even when he tries to be most optimistic he feels obliged to apologize for the regime there and to warn that it imperils the military endeavor.

In the long view, Madame Nhu is probably just one of the afflictions inherent in fighting guerrilla wars against communism in far-off countries little known to Americans. They get the tax bills and sometimes the death notices. In the press of daily life it is difficult to grasp the reasons why, and the burden seems to grow heavier, not less.

Also, such dirty little wars are hard to win. Even allies far more cooperative than the Diems believe that in the name of anticommunism, Americans will stand for everything.

It has still to be proved that Americans have gained in political sophistication with respect to foreign affairs. Echoes of the charges that the Roosevelt-Truman state department "Lost China" have not died away.

Madame Nhu herself is in the tradition of Madame Chiang Kai-shek, who appealed to public opinion here over the head of the American president. In Madame Chiang's enchanting presence, recollection of the faults of the Nationalist Chinese government was blunted, but it is plain that Madame Nhu has made no study of how the gifted Chinese woman got her effects. Still the Viet Namese and her family have a certain power of divisiveness. They have press supporters here who quarrel with press critics. And the deluge of exposure of the lady is still to come when she takes over primacy of the TV screens from mobster Valachi. Within the government there is pro-and-anti-Diem debate.

Not allowing free institutions at home, she will have every advantage of free institutions here.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

On the heels of a week of confusion and disorder (what else can you call it when the Yankees are mauled?), there approaches a week fraught with decision.

We shall have a World Series winner.

And, next Saturday, we should have the answer to a question plaguing Cornhusker football fans: Is the Husker pass defense good enough?

There are decisions approaching in the credit finance dilemma, too.

On Monday, the State Supreme Court will hear oral arguments in the appeal from a District Court decision holding Nebraska's new installment sales act constitutional.

That action will mark another step in the process of discovering whether the Legislature has now enacted a constitutional act under which merchants and finance interests can write valid time-sales paper.

With the passing of each day, the court also moves closer to rendering a decision on whether to grant rehearings in the two installment sales cases which kicked off the finance crisis.

On Thursday and Friday, the special legislative committee probing the finance field will hold hearings in Lincoln. Our information is that they may provide the scene for at least two major new developments.

In the mail this week came a press release from the National Consumer Finance Association convention in Los Angeles.

Because of the increasing interest in this subject in Nebraska, this might be a good opportunity to pass some of it on:

"Consumer credit began when one man had faith in his own future, and another man had faith in his fellow man," an economist told the 1,000 delegates.

Dr. Kenneth L. Trefftz, chairman of the Department of Finance at the University of Southern California, said that "contrary to what many people believe, consumer indebtedness (use of credit) arises not because consumers are hard-pressed, but rather because they are optimistic about the present and the future."

"At the end of July (1963), consumer credit showed an increase of about $6 billion, or 10% over one year earlier. As in the past, this surge in consumer credit has occurred during a period of business expansion."

"Since it looks as if business will continue to expand for some time, consumer debt will probably continue to rise."

"In each succeeding period of post-war business expansion, installment credit as a percent of income has gone higher than in the preceding one. Thus, the underlying forces which have permitted an ever-increasing expansion of consumer credit are still powerful."

"One of our economic problems in the future will probably be maintaining a balance between the production of goods and services and the consumer demand for them," he said.

"It seems likely that great technological changes will result in major increases in production. Our problem will be to encourage the consumptions of an ever-increasing quantity of goods."

"The consumer finance industry can play a healthy part in solving this problem. Consumers should be encouraged to make greater use of consumer credit — not by methods which tend to increase the instability or lower the quality of credit — but by those which show the eligible borrower how consumer credit can be used wisely and effectively."

"We must do everything we can to maintain the confidence of the consumer in his own economic future, lest we should experience a serious depression because of a widespread lack of willingness to spend — as has occurred in the past even when there were not shortages of money, credit or goods."

Members of the NFCA last year extended to American consumers about 13 million cash installment personal loans totaling roughly $7 billion.

New Image

Lake Worth, Fla.

It is the colossal tragedy of the ages that, just when America and all the world most desperately needed the inspiring image of America to remain unsullied and respected, this nation should ruthlessly destroy it with the unholy show of racial intolerance, willful demagoguery, mob violence and exposure of nationwide racketeering, climaxed by dynamite blasts and murder of the innocent.

But a new image is rising from the dust of demolition — in truth was casting its shadow across the old before it toppled. The new version pictures Uncle Sam as something of a hypocrite who preaches total liberty for others, but practices racial inequality and oppression in his own house.

However, he is considered generous, even lavish, when the collection box is passed around. He is known as a "soft touch" by nations round the world and an easy mark for racketeering tactics. They offer to fight communism as long as Uncle Sam pays them for it. Thus, the Red surge is steadily closing in, hoping to engulf all of America when Uncle Sam is entirely bankrupt.

The foundation for the original image of America was made by soldiers who marched barefoot through the snow and fought without pay.

Perhaps with some future generation, as your powerful editorial, "Prime Case Of Deceit" in the Sept. 20 Star suggests, "the words will be found to motivate mankind to achieve a new plateau of social culture" and yet another new image of America will be erected.

Hospital Care

Lincoln, Neb.

Even when competent medicine is practiced, the eventual outcome, of course, often is death. We feel then that this was ordained by God and something we must accept and we are grateful for the conscientious effort of both the doctor and the hospital in their attempt to save the patient.

But when we mistakenly assume that all hospitals conform to the same sensible rules and high standards and each is as well equipped with life-saving devices and a top-rate staff, and that all doctors are equally qualified to take our very lives into their hands, a prime imbrolio develops. We only find ourselves, later, forced to stand idly by, helplessly watching a loved one slip away, out of the unskilled, inept hands of the doctor, and even be denied the prescribed care of such a physician due to a sloppy, disorganized hospital procedure, wondering "what rules?" and "what standards?" and "what protection?"

I have had a year since to study local medical procedures and practices, and in some areas my findings are appalling. Not only do records remain and incriminating facts live on, but I find that doctors of the highest caliber have learned sad truths and are aware of the accumulation of damaging evidence against some less highly regarded men of medicine, but cannot afford to get involved. I have found other victims of said circumstance who have resigned themselves to the grim fact that it was indeed a sad mistake, but then — what can one do about it but live with it?

There was a very timely article about a year ago that stated that control is needed — that quality of hospital care is an area in which there is vast room for improvement. Medicine still is largely an unsupervised profession. Supervision must come through pressure applied by us, the laymen, as well as from within the profession itself.

The following was, to me, the most important part of the article, for it emphasized the whole point of this and brought up an interesting question. It said to beware of proprietary hospitals. These usually are owned and operated by a group of doctors, for profit. Many of them have failed to meet basic minimum requirements set forth by the Joint Committee on Accreditation of Hospitals.

I must tell Dr. Olney, who seems terrified of federal control and meddling in medicine (Star, Oct. 1), that our experience has imbued all of us touched by it with distrust, skepticism and lack of confidence in any doctor or hospital and it all goes to make the best case in the world for socialized medicine. The experience we had, and the documented facts recorded prove to us and the many who were aware of the whole ordeal that if such conditions and practices are allowed to exist, under complete federal control it could only get better for it would be impossible for it to have been worse. And it would cost much less. We could have met neither with more cold disinterest, unconcern, poor care by the unskilled, nor with a more disastrous end result—death.

Ticket-Happy

Lincoln, Neb.

Inviting tourists to Lincoln will fizzle if our police harass each visitor as described October 2 by "Disgusted." His letter is an exact fulfillment of a dismal notion entertained briefly by me the first day non-acceptance of personal checks was announced. I visualized the trumpeted-up traffic charge, the unjust $5 fine, the victim with the fat bank account but insufficient pocket cash, and the solitary confinement incommunicado in a foul and filthy "Black Hole of Calcutta" for life or until finally rescued by some friend with a stray ferry. I shuddered, laughed nervously, and dismissed the idea. Such shocking and fantastic police stupidity should have been unthinkable anywhere. Their insolent and predatory attitude demands drastic overhauling.

Our traffic is congested. And our parking stalls too few. Bring in much revenue. By taxing all the local cars. Also these gals and boys will tag our guests from Kansas, Iowa, Texas, Illinois. There'll smooth this situation out. And make our traffic nice. And clear the downtown streets. But goodness, what a price! Our customers from Seward, York, and all points up and down will get as they'll avoid. Our blooming ticket-happy town.

Elderly Woman Finds Exciting New Career As Importer

By ROBERT PETERSON

It was several years ago that I first heard about Mrs. Angellina Lundgren of Northboro, Mass., who entered the import business in her 60s. Her story struck me as a classic example of launching a new career late in life, and I made a mental note to visit her someday.

When I was in Boston recently she popped into my mind, so I rented a car and drove to the suburban home where this friendly, outgoing woman leads an exciting double life as housewife and import executive. I asked how she got started.

"Seven years ago my engineer husband, who is now retired, invited to dinner a young man visiting from Sweden," said Mrs. Lundgren, 69. "On his return he sent as a gift a kit for making a 'ryamatlor' — a type of rug which has been woven in Sweden since the 15th century.

"It's made of untreated, long-fibred wool and cow-hair containing natural lanolin making it vermin-and-mothproof. The Swedes consider these colorful rugs heirlooms and they're so indestructible that they often remain in a family for generations.

"I worked on the rug for three weeks, using instructions and equipment that came with the kit, including colorful yarns, strong backing cloth made of linen and cowhair, and blunt steel needles. Unlike our hooked rugs, no frame or loom was required.

"The rug turned out so beautifully — and it was such a creative, enjoyable experience making it—that I tried to buy another kit. When I discovered no one was importing them, I wrote the manufacturer and asked about becoming his distributor. He wrote that he doubted if Americans would have the patience to make these rugs. But I convinced him there was a good market here for anything truly artistic and different.

"So we worked out a contract and I was rather astonished when he assigned me — an average housewife with grown children — the U.S. distribution rights to his product. My next step was to prepare literature describing these rugs which I began sending to various people. Then I secured several rugs for display and invited people in to see them. Interest was very slow at first, but gradually people began buying.

"In the past six years I've imported thousands of these kits and now have customers in 46 states. Men as well as women buy them, and I've even received letters telling of entire families gathering in the living room after supper and working on these rugs.

"This is my office," she said showing me a former bedroom now equipped with desks, filing cabinets, tables and typewriter. "I race through my housework in the morning and can hardly wait until 9:00 a.m. when I settle down at my desk. Every mail brings orders and correspondence and people are always telephoning or stopping by. My husband helps out now and then, and so does a neighbor when we get rushed. But mostly I run the show myself and I'm not exaggerating in saying these are the most exciting years of my life."

This is an inspiring story for it confirms that we're never too old to stumble into a stimulating new career. It also reminds us of the myriad opportunities to be found in handicrafts and in the import field.

Justice Behind

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — The wheels of justice appear to be slowing down at Wichita. A recent spot check of civil jury cases pending in county courts show that an average of 22 months elapses from the time suits are filed until they come to trial. In 1959 the average time was 15.6 months.

Omaha Sunday Closing Case Dismissal Ordered

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday ordered the Douglas County District Court to dismiss "the entire action" in a case testing the validity of the Omaha Sunday closing ordinance.

The high court said the district court erred by failing to do so when the case was before it originally.

The district court ruled the ordinance was constitutional after the city pressed for a declaratory judgment.

A group of Omaha druggists and an operator of a service station had brought the original action seeking to have the ordinance declared unconstitutional on the grounds it conflicted with state and federal law.

However, before the case was decided by the district court, the plaintiffs asked their action be dismissed.

"The right of a plaintiff to dismiss a cause of action before submission to the court is a statutory right and is not a matter of judicial grace or discretion," the Supreme Court said. "The trial court was in error in proceeding with the case upon the filing of the dismissal."

In another ruling Friday the court:

Held the Douglas County District Court ruled correctly when it overruled a motion by Alfred Pedersen for a directed verdict in a personal injuries damages suit.

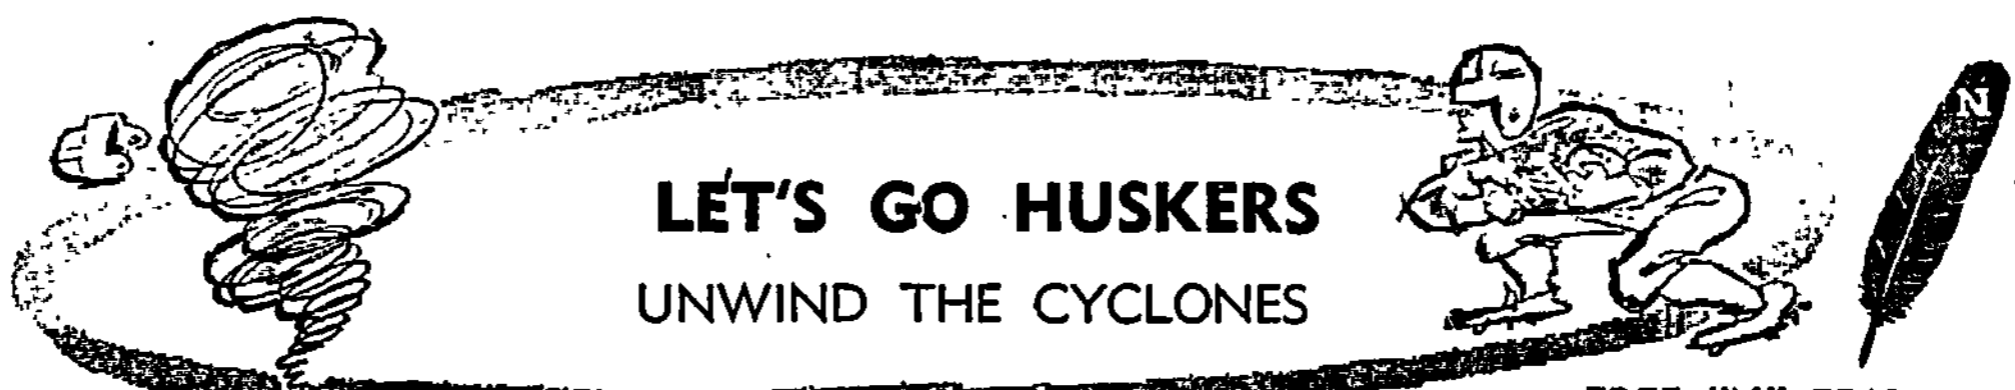

Pedersen was involved in a two-car accident on Oct. 3, 1962, in which Vicki Napier was injured. Miss Napier was a passenger in a car driven by Mary Ann Napier.

After the court discussed Pedersen's request for a directed verdict in the case, a jury trial was held and Pedersen was ruled liable to Miss Napier for injuries she suffered in the collision.

Apparent Low Bids On Road Projects Reported

The State Department of Roads Friday announced apparent low bids totaling $5,565,331 on 27 road construction and 10 maintenance projects.

The letting was $834,669 below the advance estimate of $6,400,000.

Included was a low bid of $1,013,732 by the Massman Construction Co. of Kansas City, Mo., for initial work on the controversial Interstate 480 bridge linking downtown Omaha with Council Bluffs, Iowa.

The work consists of constructing seven piers and one substructure.

Ultimately, two other Interstate bridges will also be built between the two cities.

The Nebraska and Iowa highway departments are sharing 10% of the cost of construction with the federal government paying the remainder.

Another project in the letting calls for reconstruction of 173.9 miles of Minuteman missile access roads in Western Nebraska in Banner, Cheyenne and Kimball Counties.

Low bid on the project was $1,070,223, submitted by the Narache and Konda Construction Co. of Butte, Mont.

The projects, listing county, location, mile length (if any), class of work, low bidder and amount of bid:

Two Educators From Venezuela Pay Visit To NU

Two educators from Venezuela visited the University of Nebraska this week to study methods of conducting correspondence courses.

Elias Lopez, training director at Caracas, and Robert H. Wilson, member of the Agency for International Development stationed in Venezuela, plan to set up correspondence programs for office workers, industrial workers and farmers. They also visited the University of Wisconsin, according to Dr. K. O. Broady, professor of educational administration at the University of Nebraska.

JFK Will Sign Treaty Monday

Washington (AP)—The White House announced Friday that President Kennedy will sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty next Monday.

The President's signature will constitute this country's formal ratification of the document banning all but underground nuclear test explosions.

Ratification of the treaty was approved by an 80-19 vote of the Senate on Sept. 24 after two weeks of debate.

Thursday The White House said the treaty will go into full effect on Thursday, Oct. 10, when the three original copies are placed in official depositories in Washington, London and Moscow.

These are the capitals of the three nuclear powers that negotiated the agreement at Moscow last July-August.

Kennedy will sign one of the original copies in the Treaty Room on the second floor of the White House.

It will be the first significant event to take place in this little room since the treaty of peace with Spain was signed there 85 years ago.

One of the paintings in the room shows President William McKinley looking on while his secretary of state, William Rufus Day, signs the peace protocol on Aug. 12, 1898.

This was followed by the Treaty of Paris, under which Spain freed Cuba and ceded Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines to the United States, receiving $20 million in payment for the Philippines.

Peacemakers Another painting in the room is "The Peacemakers," showing President Abraham Lincoln, with Gens. Ulysses S. Grant and William T. Sherman and Adm. David D. Porter on board the ship River Queen discussing the possibilities of peace before the end of the Civil War.

Prior to the White House renovation of 1902, the Treaty Room was used for cabinet meetings. A current White House guidebook says it has now become a waiting or meeting room for the president, and describes it in this way:

"A sturdy refuge from areas furnished with more delicate pieces of the early 19th Century, the room is paneled and curtained in the Victorian manner. The back-ground paper resembles deep velvet, while the pattern of the border, which has been used to form relieving panels, is copied precisely from the wallpaper that hung in the room across from Ford's Theater where President Lincoln died."

VISIT TO HEADQUARTERS

Giralomo Santuccio, alias Bobby Doyle, named by gangland informer Joseph Valachi as triggerman in 3 mobster slayings, leaves police headquarters in Hartford, Conn., Friday followed by his attorney, Robert C. Delaney, and Lt. John J. Roach. He was questioned by Andrew C. McCarthy, assistant district attorney of Bronx, N.Y.

DISARMAMENT HITS VATICAN

Vatican City (AP)—The Vatican Friday ordered partial disarmament of its Palatine guard of honor. The force of 500 Roman volunteers, which mounts honor guard at functions attended by the Pope, was ordered to stop carrying rifles when on duty in St. Peter's Basilica and the Apostolic Palaces. The guards, who wear 19th century uniforms, will continue to carry rifles when on duty elsewhere in the Vatican.

Man Talks In K.C. Shooting

Kansas City (AP)—A 21-year-old man signed a statement Friday that he was among two carloads of youths who fired shotgun and rifle volleys into a private home, seriously wounding a 12-year-old girl.

Richard (June Bug) Banks, denied he fired any of the weapons, but police said he implicated three companions in the Thursday night lorry in which an unsuccessful effort also was made to set fire to the home where the girl lives. All are Negroes.

The victim, Pamela Ray, was shot in the upper left chest. Her condition was reported serious.

Banks told police he and his friends were members of the Thirty-First Street Gang, one of several loosely-organized Negro neighborhood groups.

Detective Lieutenant Julian Hulet said the shooting at the Ray home apparently was in retaliation for an attack Wednesday, aimed at the home of the unofficial leader of the Thirty-First Street Gang.

The raiders were off-target, however, and their shots struck a middle-aged couple next door. This shooting was one of two in the Negro neighborhood Wednesday night in which nine persons were struck by shotgun pellets.

Maynard Cooper, 27-year-old leader of the Thirty-First Street Gang was arraigned Thursday on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with another shooting last Sunday.

Burney Officially Files For Governor

LI. Gov. Dwight Burney Friday officially completed his filing as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in the 1964 primary election.

Burney had announced his intention to seek the post the last day of the regular 1963 legislative session.

As he completed his filing, Burney noted he had paid attention to the substantial hike upcoming in filing fees. On October 19 the fee will jump from $10 to $180.

Burney, 71, is a veteran of Nebraska politics. He served six successive terms in the Nebraska Legislature 1945-1956, is now serving his fourth consecutive term as lieutenant governor, and served as the state's chief executive from September, 1960 to January, 1961 upon the death of the late Gov. Ralph G. Brooks.

Livestock Business

The native of Harlington, who has been in the farming and livestock business since 1915, said he based his filing for the GOP gubernatorial nomination on his record:

"First on my record for integrity and fair dealing.

"Second, on my record of experience. Experience in business and farming, in the Legislature, as lieutenant governor, and in the Governor's Office.

"And third, on my ability. Ability to work with people, to evaluate problems, to make decisions, and to make appointments."

Appointments Stressed

Burney said he considered the ability to make appointments "as perhaps the most important duty of a governor."

The chief executive, he said, must administer the laws of the state through the several departments. "How well the job is done depends almost entirely on the quality of the department heads."

He said he believed his ability in this area had been demonstrated by the fact that the three appointees under his administration as governor who were required to come up for election, all were elected.

The appointees were Lancaster Juvenile Judge W. W.

World Bank, IMF Governors Meet Ends With Pledge

Washington (AP) — The annual meeting of the boards of governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund (IMF) ended Friday with pledges for renewed efforts toward international economic cooperation.

The pledges came from World Bank President George Wood and IMF Managing Director Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, and other leaders in the two organizations, in a brief session Friday morning.

The next meeting will be held in September 1964 in Tokyo.

Major action of the meeting was agreement on liberalization of the lending policies of the World Bank and expansion of its activities.

Contractors Plan Lawsuit Against Sheetmetal Union

It was announced Friday that a $250,000 breach of contract suit will be filed Monday by the Lincoln Sheetmetal Contractors Association against Local 541 of the Sheetmetal Workers Union.

A spokesman for the contractors said the $250,000 figure was based on the loss to the association since union members staged a walkout three weeks ago.

The union members picketed an apartment house construction site, while negotiations were in progress, thereby making a breach in the contract.

Union officials could not be reached for comment.

Kremlin Quiet On Adenauer's Offer Of German Truce

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has disclosed that a year ago he offered Premier Khrushchev a 10-year truce on the German problem, providing Germans under communist rule got more freedom.

At the end of that period, Adenauer proposed, there should be a referendum on German reunification. He said Khrushchev has not answered his letter. The disclosure was made in a television interview Thursday. It caused considerable surprise in Bonn.

Adenauer's office explained the letter was sent after the Kremlin failed to answer a memorandum from the West German government in February 1962 proposing step-by-step improvement in Soviet-German relations. The exact date of Adenauer's letter was not disclosed.

Parker Files Motion For New Hearing

Darrel F. Parker, serving a life sentence for the 1955 strangulation of his wife, Nancy, Friday filed a motion for a new hearing on a writ of error coram nobis which was denied last week by Lancaster District Judge John Polk.

The petition, filed by Omaha attorneys Warren Schrempp and Richard Bruckner, alleges 22 errors by the court in the hearing last week as grounds for a new hearing. Several of the court errors alleged by the petitioner include the failure to admit evidence which would "prove that Darrel Parker didn't kill his wife, because she was killed by Wesley Peery."

The writ is a legal device to obtain a new trial on the original murder charge on grounds new evidence has since been discovered.

Parker's attorneys contend that the former Lincoln city forester is entitled to a new trial because Peery has admitted the Parker slaying and had possession of various items purportedly taken from the Parker home at the time of the slaying.

The motion for a new hearing is a necessary step before an appeal to the Supreme Court, which Parker's attorneys indicated they would make.

Bessire Heads Lincoln Manor

Bert A. Bessire has been elected president of Lincoln Manor, an organization which proposes to build an apartment house for the elderly in University Place.

Also chosen at the annual meeting were Mrs. William Schultz, secretary, and Seymour Lee, treasurer.

The organization meeting of the board of trustees named finance and real estate committees.

The organization, sponsored by First Methodist Church and University Place Businessmen's Association, hopes to build a 60 to 70 unit apartment house for rental to persons 62 or older.

Attorney General Points Out Confessions Useful 'For Limited Purpose'

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International
A signed confession by a criminal should be used mainly as the means to the end in obtaining a conviction, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Friday.

that the accused "did it." Meyer said courts have rejected signed confessions—expected to be vital to conviction—because police tried too hard to obtain them. Inadvertently, the effort provides the grounds which cause the confession to be thrown out as evidence, he said.

A good prosecutor, Meyer added, does not stop once he obtains a confession. "As soon as he (the prosecutor) has the confession, he will go out and try to find evidence to corroborate statements made by the accused so he can prove by these circumstances the very things quoted in the confession," Meyer said.

Other reasons confessions may be thrown out include promises of rewards or threats of harm, Meyer said, adding any violation of civilized interrogation procedure can result in a confession being rejected by a court.

A confession, however, Meyer said, is helpful to a prosecutor in getting an overall picture of the crime involved. "It makes it easier to fit the pieces together," he said. "Otherwise, the prosecutor starts only with the fractured pieces and tries to fit them into a coherent story of what happened."

Six years ago the Supreme Court reversed a state of Washington armed robbery case where the robber voluntarily turned himself in and confessed to his crime. The reason: when the accused asked if he could call his wife, his request was refused until he signed the statement. His conviction by a jury on the basis of the confession was subsequently reversed by the supreme court.

Cardinal Spellman Opposes Proposal To Form Order Of Married Deacons

Vatican City (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York led a strong attack Friday on a proposal in the Ecumenical Council to authorize a new ordained order of married deacons in the Roman Catholic Church.

The proposal was put forward by "liberal" elements because of an acute shortage of priests in many regions of the world, particularly in the missionary regions. The New York archbishop led the conservative attack in what may be the first major liberal-conservative dispute of the second session of the council.

Cardinal Spellman, making his first speech of the current session, listed a number of reasons why he believed the proposal contained in the draft schema "De Ecclesia" (about the church) should not even be discussed.

The proposal for a diaconate which is ordained and might be non-celibate is favored by many liberals, including those from the missionary countries and in South America and Asia where there are serious shortages of priests.

Cardinal Spellman said the proposal is a "disciplinary which has no place in a dogmatic constitution — there is even some doubt as to whether it should be discussed at all."

Such a diaconate would require special training, he said, and "this necessity could inflict grave hardships in localities where the church is already encountering difficulties in maintaining seminaries for candidates for the priesthood."

Consideration

"There is the further consideration that vocations to the priesthood might fall off, especially if these permanent deacons were not bound by the law of celibacy," the Cardinal said.

Several other council fathers who spoke on the proposal Friday backed Cardinal Spellman. Proponents are expected to speak when the session is resumed Monday.

The proposal in the second chapter of the draft points up

MRS. KENNEDY . . . and sister, right, at sea.

First Lady Starts On Aegean Cruise

Athens (AP)—America's First Lady, Jacqueline Kennedy, set sail from Greece Friday night on an Aegean cruise to Turkey in Aristotle Onassis' yacht Christina.

With her were the host, a Greek shipping magnate, and a dozen guests including Mrs. Kennedy's sister and brother-in-law, the Prince Stanislas and Princess Radziwill, and U.S. Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and his wife. Roosevelt had arrived here to confer with Greek government officials on trade.

A half hour before departure a brother-in-law of Onassis told newsmen the ship would sail to the Turkish coast and through the Straits to Istanbul. A gay shipboard dinner party preceded the departure.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Kennedy went along for a speedboat ride as her sister water-skied with an assist from sailors of the Christina.

The American First Lady wore a blue flowered print bathing suit. Her sister, Princess Lee, wore a black suit with one shoulder strap and a striped front for the 40-minute outing.

Mrs. Kennedy sat in the stern of the speedboat and smilingly watched through sunglasses as her sister skimmed along expertly. But she did not take a turn herself.

Fine Fruits

A supply of fine fruits — peaches, grapes, pears, black figs and pomegranates — was taken aboard the yacht along with red mullets, a delicacy fish, packed in ice.

There were large bunches of long-stemmed red roses, ferns and gladioli to make the 303-foot-long yacht more festive for the First Lady's cruise.

Onassis said he hoped to remain with the cruise party for a day or two.

Mrs. Kennedy has been enjoying three days of sunny weather, with temperatures in the 80s.

The water-skiing took place on lovely Vouliagmeni Bay, just around a cove from the villa of Greek shipowner Markos Nomikos, where Mrs. Kennedy is staying.

RETURN OF REFUGEES DEMANDED

London (UPI) — Britain Friday demanded that Cuba return 19 refugees kidnapped recently by Castro forces from a British island in the Caribbean and give assurances that there will be no similar incidents.

The British note, delivered to Cuban authorities Friday, was the second British protest to the Havana government over an incident which took place on August 8th. Castro units then landed on Agulla Cay in the Bahamas and carried off 19 refugees who had disembarked there.

Britain protested sharply against the incursion last month but Cuba rejected the British demand for return of the refugees. Cuba conceded that it had violated British territory by its invasion of the island, but termed the incursion justified.

Britain, after studying the Cuban reply, decided to make a second protest and again to demand return of the refugees.

Britain also insisted that Cuba apologize for violation of British territory and give assurances that the Havana regime in future refrain from such incidents and respect British territory.

Africans Seeking U.N. Funds For Congo Fight

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Fourteen African nations presented a resolution to the United Nations Friday asking the General Assembly to authorize $19.2 million to pay for keeping a 5,350-man U.N. force in the Congo through June 1964.

Soviet Bloc countries quickly objected, but Belgium, master of the Congo when it was a colony, ended three years of refusing to pay anything for the Congo operation and announced it would pay its share of the continued 6-months operation.

Belgian Senator A. Van Cauwenberghe told the assembly's 111-nation budgetary committee, where the resolution was presented, that Belgium was making no commitment to pay anything on its $3.1 million Congo arrears. But he supported the resolution to pay for continuing the force while the Congo government completes training and reorganization of its own forces to take over next June 30.

Belgium's share of the proposed 1964 operation would be $192,000.

Nigeria's delegation head, Chief S. O. Adebajo, introduced the resolution with a plea for quick committee adoption so the General Assembly can act before an Oct. 12 deadline set by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant if he is to keep the force in being.

Theodore Idzumbuir, Congo delegation chief, joined Adebajo in a plea for adoption of the measure. He said his own government, the African nations' group and Thant all are agreed that the Congo army is not ready to take over and guarantee peace and order.

He strongly disputed the assertions Thursday of A. A. Roschin, the Soviet delegate, that the move in the assembly is illegal. The Soviet Union, now more than $36 million in arrears because it refuses to pay on the Congo operation, insists that only one security council can approve continued operation.

Idzumbuir said the Security Council resolution of July 1960 gave the secretary-general the power to continue the operation until the Congo is ready to take over — and the Congo is not yet ready.

Despite Idzumbuir's arguments, Czechoslovakia and the Ukraine supported the Soviet view. Togo, Sweden and China, the latter a Security Council member, said they would support the measure.

Japanese Query Davis About U.S. Racial Problems

Tokyo (AP)—Sammy Davis Jr., flying back to Hollywood Friday night, says his visit to Japan brought many questions from Japanese about U.S. race problems.

The Negro entertainer said he gave this reply:

"Sure we got problems—shameful things. Nobody is trying to soften the horror. By the same token there are lots of good people and I hate to see good people bum-wrapped for what happened in Birmingham."

State Banking Director
 Ralph Misko said Friday he will decide by October 19 whether he will resign his post or terminate a contract

Gestapo Warden
Jailed For Life

Graz, Austria (AP)—Stefan Rajko, 32, former deputy warden of a Gestapo prison, was sentenced to life in prison by a court here Friday.
 He was found guilty of having killed 26 persons, aided in murder of five and instigated killings of three others, all inmates of the prison of Theresienstadt in Czechoslovakia.
 The prosecution withdrew 49 of the original charges which accused Rajko of having carried out 82 slayings, for lack of evidence.

to buy an interest in a state bank at Holdrege in accordance with a ruling from the attorney general.
 The ruling applies to the position in which Misko will be placed as the result of a new law which takes effect on the 19th.
 The 1963 Legislature passed LB751 — a recodification of state banking laws — which contains a new conflict of interest provision.
 When the bill was enacted, Misko informed Gov. Frank Morrison that he had a contract to buy an interest in the First Security Bank at Holdrege which would go into effect at the end of his second term as banking director in December, 1964.
 Norman Otto, Morrison's administrative assistant, said Misko asked the governor what effect he thought the new law would have upon him as banking director, and the governor asked Misko to obtain a ruling from the attorney general.

 The essence of the attorney general's opinion was that the contract to purchase an interest in a bank which was under the Banking Department's jurisdiction constituted an interest of the type prohibited in the new law.
 This leaves Misko with the choice of resigning his post or withdrawing from the contract.

 Under current law, a banking director is not prohibited from having an interest in a bank or banks, but if he does, that particular bank comes under the direct supervision of the governor, rather than the director.
 In the attorney general's opinion, it was noted that the director of banking is required by law to make a determination as to the necessity for issuance of bank charters without which a state bank cannot do business in Nebraska.
 "To illustrate the conflict of interest possible in such a situation as this," the opinion said, "It is necessary to look no farther than to a possible situation wherein application is made to the director to issue a charter for a state bank in the same vicinity as the bank in which the director now holds a contract interest.

 "It is impossible to say that the director would not have an interest in the outcome of this application since it would be a clear competition with his future banking business," the opinion stated.
 Misko, 54, was out of the state Friday attending a national conference of state banking directors in Virginia, but when contacted said he would return to Nebraska Wednesday and would announce his decision by the October 19 deadline.
 A Republican, Misko was appointed to the banking director post under the first term of Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison.
 At the time of his appointment he was president of the First National Bank at York, but he sold his stock in the bank shortly after accepting the director's post.

Lancaster District Judge Bartlet Boyles has continued until Oct. 17 a hearing in the Auburn and Peru dispute over power supply to Peru State College.
 The City of Auburn, which is seeking court approval of a contract it signed to supply power to the college, after three days of testimony had not completed its evidence.

 The case challenges the constitutionality of LB220, passed by the last session of the Legislature, which prohibits one power agency from penetrating the service area of a municipal power system.
 The City of Peru, which had previously supplied power for the college, contends that LB220 voids the power contract between Auburn and the college.
 Attorneys for Auburn and the college contend that the law does not apply in this case because another law authorizes the State Normal Board to contract for the cheapest power available.

Tito In Mexico
 Mexico City (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia arrived here Friday for a two-week visit. President Adolfo Lopez Mateos gave him a warm official welcome at the airport. Tito has visited Brazil, Chile and Bolivia and is to leave here Oct. 6 for Washington and a meeting with President Kennedy.

Bids Set Oct. 16

The city will take construction bids for the Fire Department's new drill tower and fire training area on Oct. 16.

 The drill tower, which will be located in a portion of Sawyer-Snell Park on South near Sherman Field, is part of the $65,000 project authorized by the City Council in the 1963-64 budget.

Dear Abby

Test His Bluff In Jail

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What good are laws? I'll tell you. They are good for the lawyers. The judge says a divorced man must pay so much alimony and child support. The man doesn't do it, so the woman has to go back to her lawyer and pay him to try to get her money for her. The divorced man says, "Okay, put me in jail and you'll get nothing!" Now, is that fair?

Here is my plan. Instead of putting these men in jail full-time, why don't they sentence them to "jobs" on evenings and week-ends so they won't have all that free time to run around and spend the money they agreed to pay their ex-wives? How do I start the ball rolling?

DEAR BITTER: In some circumstances the law permits a garnishee of wages, which means you get your share whether he likes it or not. If this relief fails let the man test his bluff in jail on a charge of non-support. I'll betcha he won't repeat.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman. I have been told I am very attractive. I recently took a job running an elevator in what is supposed to be a high class office building. I would rather not go into detail, but I would like to know if it is really against the law to hit a man with glasses.

GOING UP
DEAR GOING: Yes—unless, of course, you hit with a police court warrant for tampering with an elevator jockey.

DEAR ABBY: I understand that most men have a streak of jealousy in them, but my husband is impossible. He wakes me up at five o'clock in the morning to question me because he DREAMT I was chasing around with men all over the city. Abby, I am an ordinary-looking, middle-aged woman with three small children to look after, and I tell you I am not interested in any other men. I can't even go to church for fear of being accused of going somewhere else. My nerves are shot trying to stay sane for the children. I've never given my husband any reason to distrust me. He says he acts this way because he LOVES me. Is this love?

NERVOUS
DEAR NERVOUS: Your husband's jealousy has nothing to do with "love". Suspicious based on fantasy are a symptom of mental illness.

DEAR ABBY: You will probably never print this, but I hope you do. We have some new neighbors: This morning the man of the family rapped on my back door and asked me if I planned to hang my wash up today. He said if I did, he would not burn his trash until tomorrow. I was so touched by such a considerate act that I broke right down and cried.

The bidding:
West North East South
1♣ Pass 3♣ Pass 3♦
Pass 3♣ Pass 3♦

Opening lead — king of spades.

You never know when the ace will descend in team of four play. There is no good reason for what happened in this deal to have occurred, but the fact is that it did.

The hand was played between Switzerland and Great Britain in the women's world championship staged in Turin in 1960. When a British pair held the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown. West chose to open the bidding with a spade, instead of a club, and South doubled after two passes.

For reasons unknown North jumped to three clubs, but then wisely subsided when South bid three diamonds. West led the king of spades, and even though her partner played the eight, switched to a low heart.

Declarer now had no trouble making three diamonds, and could have made four, but she played safely to assure the contract.

There were wild doings at the second table, where the bidding went:
West North East South
1♣ Pass Pass 3♦
Pass 4♣ Pass 4♦
Pass 5♦ Dble.

North should probably have passed three diamonds. True, the Swiss South had shown a strong hand by jumping to three diamonds, but the bid was by no means forcing and permitted North to pass. The plot thickened when South bid four hearts and North corrected to five diamonds. East now came to life and doubled.

West led the king of spades and continued with the ace, catching the queen. The J-10 of spades then followed, declarer ruffing the fourth round of spades in dummy with the jack, East, in the meantime, discarded two hearts.

Declarer now cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club, but later made only four more tricks to bring her to a total of seven. As a result, she went down four for an ignominious score of minus 1,100 points. The British gained 1,210 points on the deal.

Nobody can say the ladies don't bid em up sometimes!

Do You Know About Viability?

It is unlawful in Nebraska to sell or offer for sale non-viable (non-livable) nursery stock. The sap of all evergreens is resinous, and if this resin hardens by drying out or poor handling before purchase, no amount of good care on your part will revive the tree. We do not sell non-viable trees; neither do we sell evergreen species, many of which grow in the South, but which, in this area, winter kill outright or over a period of a few years. In most cases, nursery stock can not be successfully handled like groceries or dry goods.

The above children are invited to attend Gold's Birthday Party at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 5. After the party they will be guests at a movie at the Stuart Theater.

Halstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Lightner and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson.

Eastborough travelers who have just returned from a five-day vacation in Minnesota are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Livingston and their children Joseph and Diane.

While in Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston were the houseguests of Mrs. Livingston's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Chambers.

This was also a very busy football weekend for the Livingston family for they attended the Nebraska-Minnesota game and the Minnesota Vikings vs. the San Francisco 49'ers.

These busy residents returned to their home on Tuesday.

Fall vacationers who are back in town—just in time for the raking season, are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sparks and their son Timmy.

This Eastborough family has been on two vacations—the first to Enid, Okla., where they visited with Mrs. Sparks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Marler.

The destination for their second trip was to Bunker Hill AFB in Indiana, where they were the guests of Mrs. Sparks' brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. Charles T. Bates.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparks and Timmy then returned to Lincoln after spending five days at the Bates' home.

New residents in the Eastborough area as of Oct. 1, are Mr. and Mrs. Erin Anderson and their two-month-old son, David.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are not new to Lincoln however, for their old residence was in northeast Lincoln.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

Out-of-town guests who will be arriving on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nelson and children Kathy, Gary, Susan and Sharon, will be Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Goff and their children Rhonda, Brian and Ruth.

The Goff family will, be dinner guests at the Nelson home and will return to their home in Schuyler on Sunday evening.

Celebrating his fourth anniversary on Thursday of this week was Master Thomas Zimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Zimmer.

Friday was the day of celebration however, and neighborhood "pals" who joined Thomas for an afternoon of games and goodies were Steven Hubbell, Pammy and Julie Dragg, Judy and Cindy Vondra and Thomas' brother and sister, Steven and Lynette.

Colonial Club Greet New Members

We'll venture a guess that when last evening's dinner dance for the members of the Colonial Dancing Club was planned, the committee didn't know that a real, honest-to-goodness circus would be in town on the same evening. Then again, maybe it did know.

Anyway, it was a circus theme at the Colonial Club dinner dance Friday evening at Hotel Cornhusker — The decorations had to do with reasonable facsimiles of circus animals and the circus motif was featured in the table appointments.

One of the special features of the evening was the presentation of new member couples who were elected to membership earlier this year.

New members are, from left to right, Dr. and Mrs. Keith Duebler, Mr. and Mrs.

Alvin Kletsch, Mr. and Mrs. Marden Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Otto, Mr. and Mrs. "Bud" Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Powell, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wiese. Not pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong.

Bridal Courtesies

This is a busy weekend for Miss Gayle Pitsch whose marriage to Sarge Dubinsky will be solemnized on Saturday, Oct. 12. As a matter of fact Mr. Dubinsky also will be partying since on Sunday he is to share honors with his fiancée at a brunch for which Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lyon will be host and hostess.

Today, however, Miss Pitsch will be an honoree in her own right. She is to be complimented at a tea, between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock this afternoon, for which Mr. Dubinsky's mother, Mrs. Irwin Dubinsky, will be hostess.

And last Thursday Mrs. Sam Davidson paid prenuptial courtesy to Miss Pitsch when she was a luncheon hostess at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Last Sunday Miss Pitsch and Mr. Dubinsky shared the honors when Mrs. Miriam Jacobs entertained at brunch at Hotel Cornhusker.

We Hear That

Former Lincoln residents who have arrived from California for a visit in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Al Schumacker of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Schumacker are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Cohen.

Faculty Group Makes Plans

The success of any organization relies upon good planning, we've been told. If that be true the Faculty Dancing Club may be very sure of a good year.

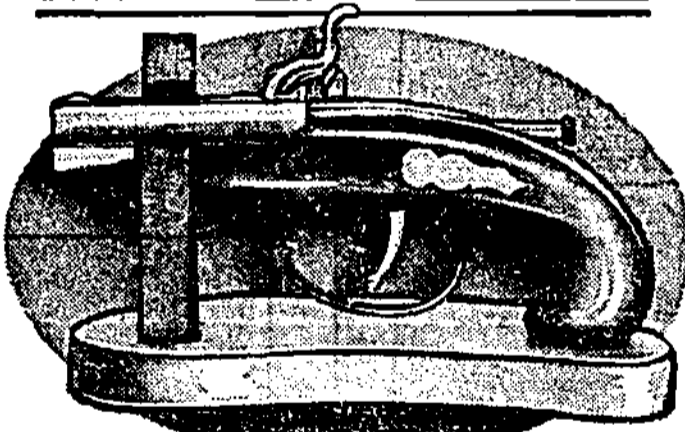

The organization committee for the Faculty Dance group met on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Haunold, to make plans for the current season which begins very soon.

The Faculty Dancing Club, composed of members of the University of Nebraska faculty dots its season with dinner dances, and most of the parties during past years, have been held at the Student Union.

Riper, Mr. Haunold, Mrs. Haunold, Mrs. Joe Wampler, and Mrs. William Colville.

Odds Now Favor Dodgers; Righthanders Duel Today

Los Angeles (AP) — Yankee slugger Roger Maris was a doubtful starter in Saturday's third World Series game as the Los Angeles Dodgers came home with a 2-0 edge over the American League champions.

With Don Drysdale, 19-17, ready to take on New York's Jim Bouton, 21-7, in a battle of right-handers in the third game, the Dodgers had become 3-1 favorites to take it all. If Big D can win his start, Sandy Koufax, who set a Series record with 15 strikeouts in the opener, is primed to strike the finishing blow Sunday against Whitey Ford.

Twice before the Yanks have trailed 2-0 and come back to win, against Brooklyn in 1955 and Milwaukee in 1958. However, each time they had lost the first two on the road, not at Yankee Stadium.

The proud Yanks, 7-5 pre-Series favorites, now faced the distinct possibility that they might be humiliated in four straight. The only Yankee Series club that failed to win a game was the 1922 team, but even they managed to get one tie while bowing to John McGraw's New York Giants.

Batters

"Welcome Home, Champs," read one banner held aloft in the tumultuous crowd of 2,000 that greeted the Dodgers at the airport Thursday night. "Where's all that Yankee power now?" another asked.

Fans had remained in line all night outside Dodger Stadium at Chavez Ravine in hopes of grabbing some of the 4,100 tickets that go on sale before each game. A jam-packed mob of 56,000, with trumpets blaring "charge," was assured for the Dodgers' first home game.

Nobody ever has won a Series after losing the first two at home but the Yanks were grimly confident they would pull it out yet.

"We're not throwing in the towel," said manager Ralph Houk in the Yankee clubhouse after Thursday's 4-1 defeat to Johnny Podres. He repeated it again Friday as his Yanks worked out in Walter O'Malley's many-splendored stadium.

Big Curve

Bouton, Houk's third game pitcher, is a sturdy 24-year-old athlete with a big overhanded curve, like Camilo Pascual's. "Bulldog Jim" is what his mates call him, for he is a determined young man who won 21 after being promoted from the bullpen to a starting role May 12. He completed 12 of 30 starts and won six shutouts.

Drysdale, the Dodgers' 6-foot-6 inch righty, wound up with 19 victories, having been troubled by shingles in the final month. He pitched 17 complete games in 42 starts and threw three shutouts. Big D can be as tough as any pitcher in the league, especially on right-handed hitters, with that big side arm motion.

The results of the first two games were deeply embarrassing to the Yankees, who have a Series batting average of only .194 to the Dodgers' .275.

The only Yanks who have been hitting are Tom Tresh and Elston Howard with three hits apiece, accounting for six of the Yanks' 13. Mickey Mantle is 0-for-7 and Maris 0-for-5.

Best Batters

Tommy Davis and Bill Skowron have been the big guns for the Dodgers in the first two games. Tommy is batting .625 with two triples among his five hits in eight at bats. Skowron, making the Yanks sorry that they traded him, had a .571 average on four hits in seven trips.

Not particularly encouraging to the Yanks were the figures on their games against the Angels at this same stadium in Chavez Ravine. In two years, Mantle never has hit a home run there and Maris has hit one. In 302 at bats this year, the entire Yank club hit only four homers in the symmetrical park, which is 330 feet down each foul line, compared to 301 in left and 296 in right in Yankee Stadium.

Alston said he expects to leave Skowron in the lineup although the Dodgers will be facing a right-handed pitcher in the third game. The Dodger manager said Dick Tracewski would remain on second base. The only change would be Ron Fairly in right field in place of Frank Howard.

"Moose always has been a streak hitter," said Alston. "I'd hate to take him out. I like to stay with a hot man. I have been satisfied with the way Tracewski has been playing although Ken McMillen probably will be able to play if we need him."

Alston said he expected to follow the regular plucking rotation with Koufax on Sunday and Johnny Podres Monday if there is a fifth game and if Podres is all right. If Podres can't make it, then Alston said he might go with Pete Richert or Bob Miller.

"This Series is by no means over. This Yankee club can't be trusted," Alston said.

Heelan Bombs Pius X

Sioux City — Sioux City Heelan handed invading Lincoln Pius X a convincing 38-6 setback Friday night to remain undefeated in the series of grid frays with the Capital City school.

The Pius crew, hoping to spoil Heelan's homecoming fun by picking up their first win in the series with the Sioux Citizens, were held scoreless until late in the final period when quarterback Mike Bohaty pitched to Dayle Churchill from 12 yards out.

Heelan first took the ball on its own 20 after Pius had received the opening kickoff. Heelan marched 80 yards in 11 plays, scoring on a 30-yard scamper by Charlie Lewis.

Pius, unable to move the ball effectively, dropped Bob Chaves back to punt in a fourth down situation. A bad snap from center flew over Chaves' head and came to rest on the Pius 14. Heelan needed only four plays for the TD.

With 6:50 left in the second quarter Tim Mahan took a handoff from Tom Miller on a criss-cross pattern on the kickoff and scooted 85 yards for another score. The extra point kick failed as the ball hit the crossbar and the score moving into the third period stood at 18-0.

Heelan scored another pair in the third quarter and again in the final period adding two extra points along the way.

Islanders Top Links, 12-7

. . . JOHN SANDERS PASSES FOR BOTH GI SCORES

A two-touchdown passing blitz by Grand Island's John Sanders sent Lincoln High by the wayside Friday night, 12-7. The Islander senior quarterback filled the Seacrest Field air with footballs before some 3,000 fans in the scoring surge to spoil the Links' homecoming.

Sanders' first touchdown strike came with 4:06 remaining in the first quarter after an LHS pass went astray into the hands of Grand Island line-backer Dick Schuessler, who returned it to the Lincoln High 46-yard line.

Smith Shines
Boyd Smith, 116-pound halfback, led the assault downfield by taking a Sanders pass to the 33 for a nine-yard gain and scampering 14 more yards to the 19.

On the next play Smith cut across field and snared Sanders' lofty toss for the TD. The kick attempt was blocked.

After the ball changed hands only twice, Larry Andersen led the second GI charge to the end zone.

Short Punt
Grand Island took a punt which rolled off the side of Wally Fras' foot on his own 49-yard line. After a four-yard gain, the Islanders, called on Andersen. The 174-pound junior bashed his way to the Link 39 before a Sanders run gained a couple of yards.

Then Sanders dropped a pass into Andersen's reaching fingers on the 20 from whence behind the solid blocking of the GI interference he drifted into the end zone with 7:17 left in the first half. A Schuessler PAT attempt fell wide of the mark.

Fast Start
Lincoln High came out in the second half like a steamroller. Behind the running of sophomore Henry Jackson and Herman Tapp the Links powered their way from their own 30 to the Grand Island 38-yard line where Jackson (on a fourth down burst) fumbled into the arms of Islander tackle Dave Rohweder.

But the Links scored the next time they got their hands on the ball, giving Grand Island a little of its own medicine—a scoring pass.

On the first play from scrimmage, Tapp made the longest single gain of the night, a 49-yard gallop through the GI secondary to the Islanders' 25.

Four plays later—a fourth and three situation—quarterback Dennis Wertz found

Tapp all alone, while cutting toward the sideline and hit the junior halfback with a strike for an 18-yard touchdown play and LHS' only score.

Wertz' pass to Frank Brill for the extra point ended the scoring. Lincoln High nearly gave the crowd a storybook finish by moving from their own 13-yard line to the Grand Island 24 with Wertz passes of 17, 7 and 37 yards before time caught up with them.

For the night Sanders hit 11 of 19 aerial attempts for 162 yards. He hit 8-14 in the first half, and came through with two clutch punts of 35 and 41 yards in the fourth quarter.

—DEFENSIVE BATTLE—

Southeast Blanked By Chieftains, 6-0

Bellevue-Lincoln Southeast won another statistical battle, but lost another football game Friday night.

In a defensive battle of top-ranked Class A teams, Bellevue emerged with a happy homecoming, 6-0 victory.

It was a familiar story for coach Bill Stephenson's Knights. The ninth-rated Capital City team lost two other games early this year despite statistical edges.

Bellevue got the game's only score on the first play of the fourth quarter. The tally came on an 11-yard pass from Lonnie Albracht to end Jerry DePoyster.

The touchdown was set by the second pass interception of the game by Bellevue's Don Harvell. The pass-interception department was the only statistical category where Southeast fell short.

The Chieftains snared three errant aerials by Southeast's Steve Bock.

NU Harriers Suffer Defeat

Des Moines (AP) — Drake defeated Iowa State and Nebraska in a cross-country meet Friday.

Drake, led by Jack Kragle, scored 18 points. Iowa state was second with 56 and Nebraska trailed with 62. The low score wins.

Kragle was the individual winner over the three-mile course with a time of 16 minutes 16.1 seconds.

Lincoln High now stands 2-3 and the Islanders take home a 3-2 mark.

The victory was the fourth in a row for Bellevue after an opening season loss, 12-6, to second-ranked Omaha Bishop Ryan.

Northwest Mizzou Hits For 2 Second-Half TDs

. . . TIETJEN'S PUNT RETURN SPARKS NWU

By DAVE WOHLFARTH
Star Sports Writer

A fired up Northwest Missouri football team dominated the second half while pushing across two touchdowns for a come-from-behind 13-6 victory over Nebraska Wesleyan Friday night at Magee Stadium.

The defeat stung the Plainsmen with their first setback before approximately 3,000 home fans. NWU had entered the contest with three straight successes and started off like No. 4 was in the making.

The Plainsmen scored the first time they got the ball as Dwight Tietjen, a 180-pound sophomore from De Witt, returned Northwest Missouri's first punt 55 yards for an NWU score.

Tietjen took Hal Wittbrodt's punt on his own 45, took a few steps up the middle then cut sharply to his left behind some good Wesleyan blocks, then shot down the sidelines toward the goal. A good block at the 20 sprang him for the rest of the route, however, he juggled the ball the last ten yards but managed to hang on to the pigskin as he hit paydirt with only 2:10 gone.

Willis Wiesbrook's extra point kick missed the mark, a miscue that became significant as the battle wore on.

Strong First Half

Inspired by Tietjen's return, Wesleyan continued to hammer away in the first half and later marched from its own 43 to the Bearcat 10, aided by a 10-yard burst up the middle by Chuck Holt and a 14-yard end-sweep by Dave Newlon.

With a first down at the 10, Newlon made two but quarterback Mike Slatinsky was spilled for a 13-yard loss by Wittbrodt on the 21. Newlon made five more but a field goal attempt by Wiesbrook was short.

The Missourians made their only serious first half threat early in the second quarter but bogged down at the Wesleyan 24. A three-point effort by the Bearcats' first down of the second half Mick Thompson also fell shy of the mark.

NWU knocked at the door once more in the half, reaching the 16 before being halted on downs.

Rarin' To Go

The Bearcats came bouncing into the second half ready to fight. After holding Wesleyan on downs, they turned the tables on the home crew by plowing 83 long yards in 17 plays, consuming over eight minutes of third period playing time.

Quarterback Leo (Duke) Pappas, a member of the University of Nebraska freshman team last fall, directed the drive and called 17 straight running plays, avoiding the airways completely.

Backs Thompson, Lonnie Irvin and Mike Peterson banged away at the Wesleyan middle then countered with end sweeps as Pappas mixed his plays beautifully. The drive almost bogged down at the Wesleyan 30 but Mario Baletti swept end for four yards and a first and ten at the 26.

Irvin got the big one when he sped around left end and squirmed through three Wesleyan defenders for the score with 4:59 left. Peterson's PAT conversion gave the Bearcats a 7-6 edge.

The visitors didn't stop there. They were in TD territory early in the fourth quarter with a first and goal at the NWU four but Pappas fumbled the snap and NWU tackle Ted Bookman pounced on the ball.

Offense Stalled
But the Plainsmen couldn't make any progress and were forced to punt. Northwest Missouri was slowed by penalties and punted to the Wesleyan 31 where Tietjen fumbled the punt and three Bearcats snuggled around the ball.

Tietjen redeemed himself a few minutes later by pirating his second pass of the night on the NWU 20 and returning it three yards.

Wesleyan finally mustered up enough to get its initial when freshman halfback Bill Rohrig hit for a four-yarder to the Wesleyan 37. It looked like the Plainsmen were on the move but disaster soon struck as linebacker Darrell Cotter intercepted a Slatinsky pass at the Bearcat 47 and returned it 30 yards down the sidelines.

With Peterson and Wittbrodt shouldering the load the Missouri eleven marched the 23 yards in five plays with Wittbrodt scoring on a nine-yard burst up the middle with only 1:29 left to put the game on ice.

A final Wesleyan desperation comeback achieved only another first down and added in a few yards for an embarrassing total of 28 net yards gained offensively in the second half.

After being outrushed 103-71 in the first half, the Bearcats made 117 yards on the ground in the final half and added 38-yard air for a total yardage of 243.

Northwest Missouri has now won two, lost one and tied one for the season.

Speedy Scot Wins Triple Trot Crown

... CAPTURES BOTH FUTURITY HEATS

Lexington, Ky. (AP)—Castleton Farm's Speedy Scot captured the $60,861 Kentucky Futurity in consecutive heats Friday and became the second triple crown winner in trotting history.

Speedy Scot made it look easy as he turned back Floris, owned by the Arden Homestead Stables of Goshen, N.Y., and Cheer Honey, owned by the Donner Packing Co. of Milwaukee.

The winner scored a clean sweep at Lexington after picking up victories earlier in the Yonkers and the Hambletonian. The only other triple crown winner was Scott Frost, who won all three in 1955—the inaugural year of the crown.

METS, COLTS TO ADD FROM OTHER CLUBS

Los Angeles (AP)—The National League, in a move to beef up the struggling Houston Colts and New York Mets, voted Friday night to add at least four relatively proven players to the rosters of the two new clubs.

League president Warren Giles said the players would be selected at a meeting in Cincinnati no later than Oct. 14 and probably within two or three days of the end of the World Series, which resumes with game No. 3 here Saturday.

Under the plan, adopted Friday night at a meeting of clubowners and general managers here, each of the eight established National League clubs will submit a list of four players from their roster as of Aug. 31. The Mets, who won first pick in a coin toss after the agreement was reached, and the Colts will make alternate selections from the lists at a cost of $30,000 per player.

Giles emphasized that no club would be required to sell more than one player, but was free to negotiate with the Mets and Colts for the other three players listed. If the clubs agree, Giles said, the sale price for those players would be no more than $30,000. Similarly, the Mets and Colts are not required to take any new players if they feel they will not help.

Miami Edges Tulane, 10-0

New Orleans (AP)—Pass wizard George Mira, plagued by butterfingers receivers and still seeking to recapture his 1962 form, had to fall back on a field goal and a fumble to spark Miami to a 10-0 football victory over hapless Tulane Friday night.

It was the 14th straight loss for the Green Wave, which moved to the Hurricane one-yard line as the game ended on a sparkling 44-yard pass-guine to end Ron Krajewski. Tulane has yet to score this season.

Mira hit on only seven of 19 passes for 66 yards and saw the Greenies intercept two of his aerials for Tulane's first interceptions this year.

But Mira, an All-America as a junior last year, saw three potential touchdown passes dropped. In addition, a 40-yard strike to flankerback Nick Spinelli was nullified by a holding penalty.

Big Eight Turns Down Solich's Hardship Bid

Kansas City (AP)—Nebraska's request for a hardship ruling on halfback Frank Solich was denied Friday by the Big Eight Conference's faculty representatives meeting here.

The Huskers had asked for a hardship ruling on Solich, who was hurt in the Minnesota game, so that he would still have three years of eligibility. The request was turned down because Solich was injured in the second game of the season while the rule specifies the first game.

Five other Big Eight athletes were granted another year of competition under the hardship rule. They are Robert Case and Richard Longren, both Iowa State baseball players; Carroll Cape and James Estes, both of Missouri; and Jimmie Fields, Oklahoma State sophomore end.

The faculty representatives also set dates for the basketball tournament, indoor track meet and wrestling meet.

The pre-season basketball tournament, to be held for the 18th year at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, will be Dec. 26, 27, 28 and 30. In the first round of holiday play, Kansas State meets Nebraska at 7:30 and Oklahoma faces Missouri at 9 p.m. Dec. 26, with Colorado meeting Kansas at 7:30 and Oklahoma State facing Iowa State at 9 p.m. Dec. 27.

The indoor track meet was set for Feb. 28-29 and the wrestling met for March 13-14.

The possibilities of establishing a scatter light system at 14th and S streets, where the most dense and sustaining pedestrian traffic is involved, are being studied by City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger and NU Business Manager Carl Donaldson and the Student Council at the University. The scatter light system would stop all auto traffic from all directions for pedestrians for a definite period. Pedestrians would proceed across the intersection and Mr. Donaldson believes this might improve the present serious bottle-neck at 14th and S streets. "The present traffic light situation is not good," said Donaldson. "We believe, if funds can be found for putting up a scatter light system, the situation might be improved and would not seriously handicap automobile traffic at that intersection." ## Red Skelton Grabs Hose, Battles Blaze

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP)—Comedian Red Skelton jumped out of bed early Friday, grabbed a garden hose and fought a fire which destroyed a storehouse adjacent to his home.

Fire units controlled the blaze after a three-hour struggle.

Officials said the comedian stored paintings and camera equipment in the house but declined to give an estimate of damages.

No one was seriously injured. Skelton suffered a slight burn on his hand.

The blaze marked the second time in two years that the comedian has joined firemen in fighting fires on his property. In the Bel Air-Brentwood fire, Skelton climbed to the roof of his home with a garden hose.

Two years ago both boys were wearing slings on broken left arms.

Curt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mitteis and Wilfred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Linc Henry.

Here's the Answer

...deep rooted in God's Word---The Book.
When Sir Walter Scott lay dying—he called for The Book. The servant who best knew his library hesitated and asked,
"Which Book?" Being the writer and reader of many books, Sir Walter said,
"There is only one book for a dying man."
Is it not equally true for a living man?
What book compares in value to aid us in better living? Do you try to find out what is your highest duty? Do you want guidance? Do you cherish peace of mind? Do you seek inspiration?
Do you really want to know what life is for? This man holds The Source---
The Answer---The Divine Way.
Day by day let us enrich our minds,
let us seek from the Bible, wisdom, and try to understand God's purpose for us in His World.
See you in church or Synagogue
this week.

The Bible Is A Record

The psalmist summarized the ministry and value of the scriptures to man when in an attitude of recognition and confession to God he wrote, "Thy word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path" (Psalms 119:105). The prophet Ezekiel, after reading a portion of the scriptures at the time of his call and consecration, wrote, "it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness" (Ezekiel 3:3). Hence, the scriptures can serve anyone with inspiration and guidance and strength and comfort.

The Bible is a record, deep and age-old, of the experiences of poets, prophets and apostles, who knew God well enough to have developed a sensitive ear to the "still small voice". They suffered, sinned, and were forgiven; they knew sorrow, heartache and despair, and then in their best way, using the communicative skills of prose and poetry, they shared with all concerned what they had discovered about God and what they had learned about resolving some of life's deepest problems.

How then can people forget or neglect this Book of life and love and law? It is the answer of the way to understand and accept life in all its many dimensions.
It is the Record.

GOULART SEEKS 'SIEGE'

Brasilia (UPI)—President Joao Goulart asked the federal congress Friday to put Brazil under a state of siege—modified martial law—for the next 30 days. His request was backed by the armed forces.

The measure would allow the government to cope more easily with a wave of strikes and political unrest stemming from soaring inflation due to the economic chaos in the country.

Thirty thousand workers are on strike in Sao Paulo State. Seven thousand are out in Guanabara State. Other thousands of transport workers are on strike in Porto Alegre, the nation's third largest city, and Brasilia, the capital.

Settled One

The government only Friday settled a nationwide strike of some bank workers by agreeing to wage increases over the next six months totaling 105%. It was the first walkout where the settlement was more than a 100% increase, reflecting the ever-increasing speed of the inflationary rise throughout the country.

Goulart sent his state of siege appeal to congress through his adviser, Dager Serra, and conferred with Chamber President Raimundo Mazzilli at the presidential residence outside Brasilia, presumably to discuss quick action on the executive request.

With the presidential message went statements from the war, navy, air force and justice ministers supporting the request.

Act Quickly

Goulart's Labor Party majority in the congress was believed ready to act quickly on his appeal. However, it appeared likely it might meet some adverse reaction from conservatives and the political opposition because of the effect on this nation's image abroad.

Goulart's request was not unexpected. Two weeks ago, the military cabinet was reported to have proposed that he ask congress for the state of siege. Goulart rejected the request at that time, however, because of the presence in Brazil of Yugoslav President Tito as a state guest.

Complicating the economic situation in the country—the hike in living costs in Brazil in 1963 is expected to reach 85 to 90%—has been acrimonious debate among the military leaders and the labor movement and anti-Communist Guanabara State Gov. Carlos Lacerda's running feud with the Goulart administration.

Bomb Wounds 12 In Bar

Vinh Long, South Viet Nam (AP)—Nine U.S. Army servicemen were wounded in a terrorist bomb explosion in a bar in this Mekong Delta town Friday night.

None were believed in a critical condition, but six were flown to nearby Can Tho for hospital treatment.

Three waitresses at the bar were also wounded.

The bomb was either planted or thrown into Bar Mexico at 8:30 p.m., American sources said.

The explosion demolished the bar, smashing tables, chairs, stools and the bar itself. Most of the Americans were injured in their legs and buttocks. They also suffered powder burns and concussion.

American medics rushed to the scene and gave immediate treatment to men and girls. Two helicopters from the 114th Air Mobile Company flew six casualties to Can Tho. Girls were turned over to Vietnamese medical authorities.

None of the Americans saw anyone throw the bomb but a Vietnamese was seen to have entered earlier carrying a basket of vegetables.

It is believed the bomb could have been carried in that way and left under a table. Other Americans believe it was likely the bomb was thrown through the door.

This is the first Communist guerrilla incident against Americans in Vinh Long although other bomb attempts have taken place elsewhere in the delta.

Shell Slays 8 Boys

Seoul, Korea (AP)—Eight boys were killed in an explosion of an artillery shell they were playing with on an army firing range near Chinhai, 170 miles southeast of here, news reports said.
